HC UPHOLDS GOVT BAN ON HIJAB IN COLLEGES

Headscarf not part of essential Islamic religious practice, says full bench

Eight II PU students of Government Junior College at Kembhavi in Yadgir district return home as college authorities did not allow them to write exams wearing hijab on Tuesday | EXPRESS

IN a significant and much-awaited judgement, the Karnataka High Court on Tuesday ruled that wearing of hijab or headscarf by Muslim women does not form part of an essential religious practice in Islamic faith protected under Article 25 (freedom of conscience) of the Indian Constitution, while upholding the contention of the state government. Confirming the order issued by the state government on February 5, 2022, banning hijab in classrooms and prescribing uniforms, the court categorically stated that the government has powers to issue such an order and no case was made out by petitioners for its invalidation.

Prescribing uniforms for students is not a violation of the fundamental right to freedom of expression guaranteed under Article 19(1)(a) and right to privacy under Article 21 of the Constitution, concluded the full bench of Chief Justice Ritu Raj Awasthi, Justices Krishna S Dixit and JM Khazi.

Prescribing uniforms is only a reasonable restriction constitutionally permissible which the students cannot object to. "We have no quarrel with the petitioners' essential proposition that what one desires to wear is a facet of one's autonomy and that one's attire is one's expression. But all that is subject to reasonable regulation," the bench added on privacy rights.

"There is absolutely no material placed on record to prima facie show that wearing of hijab is part of an essential religious practice in Islam and that the petitioners have been wearing hijab from the beginning. This apart, it can hardly be argued that hijab being a matter of attire, can be justifiably treated as fundamental to Islamic faith. It is not that if the alleged practice of wearing hijab is not adhered to, those not wearing hijab become sinners, Islam loses its glory and ceases to be a religion, the full bench opined. CONTINUED ON: P4

Petition filed in Supreme Court

New Delhi: Two Muslim girl students from MGM College in Udupi on Tuesday filed a special leave petition before the Supreme Court, soon after the Karnataka High Court passed a judgement upholding the state government ban on hijab in schools and colleges. The plea, filed by Manal and Niba Naz, states that the high court failed to note that the right to wear a hijab comes under the ambit of 'expression' and is protected under Article 19(1)(a) of the Constitution

Students must not skip classes, exams, says CM

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

SOON after the Karnataka High Court passed its judgement upholding the state government ban on hijab in schools and colleges, Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai on Tuesday appealed to students not to skip classes and exams.

Education is important and it is a question of their future, he said.

Everyone has to follow the court order and people should maintain peace while it is being implemented, he said. The government has made enough security arrangements and action will be taken against those violating the order, he said.

Primary and Secondary Education Minister BC Nagesh said that the government is looking at bringing in amendments to remedy the lacunae in law.

3 European PMs go on solidarity trip to Kyiv

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE

EVEN as Russia continued to reduce Ukrainian cities to rubble, three European prime ministers set out for the embattled capital by train on Tuesday. The aim of the trip, undertaken independently by the leaders after the European Union refused to sanction it due to security risks, is to show support for Ukraine, Czech Prime Minister Petr Fiala tweeted. He was joined by his counterparts Janez Jansa of Slovenia and Mateusz Morawiecki of Poland. Polish deputy PM Jaroslaw Kaczynski also joined them.

This is the first high-level visit since the Russian invasion of Ukraine began on February 24. The development comes amid Russia's relentless bombardment on Ukraine. On Tuesday, central Kyiv witnessed a series of attacks in a residential neighbourhood. Ukrainian president Volodymyr Zelenskyy said four multi-storey buildings were hit, killing dozens of people.

The trip comes at a time when Ukrainian authorities have expressed hope that the war could end sooner than expected. In the latest hint at a compromise, Zelenskyy said on Tuesday that Kyiv is ready to accept security guarantees that stop short of its long-term objective of the NATO alliance membership.

Meanwhile, the European Union on Tuesday approved the fourth package of sanctions against Russia, which includes economic and personal restrictive measures. P12

Sonia begins clean-up, tells Sidhu, four other PCC chiefs to resign

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ New Delhi

AFTER a humiliating whitewash in all five states that went to polls recently, Congress president Sonia Gandhi on Tuesday directed the heads of party units in UP, Uttarakhand, Punjab, Goa and Manipur to put in their papers. The directive is expected to set the ball rolling for spring cleaning and rejuvenating the party units.

"Congress President, Smt Sonia Gandhi has asked the PCC (Pradesh Congress Committee) Presidents of Uttar Pradesh, Uttarakhand, Punjab, Goa and Manipur to put in their resignations in order to facilitate reorganisation of PCCs," party spokesperson Randeep Surjewala tweeted.

The order came two days after Sonia reportedly offered to resign along with her children at the Congress Working Committee (CWC) meeting but was dissuaded from doing so by her loyalists. The CWC instead asked her to "address the organisational weaknesses, effect necessary and comprehensive organisational changes in order to take on the political challenges."

The Congress was particularly bruised because it was swept out of power in Punjab by the AAP due to intra-party squabbling. It also failed to catch the low-hanging fruits of Uttarakhand and Goa, and let the BJP win repeat mandates in four of the five states that went to polls.

Sonia's diktat would bring the curtain down on the messy Navjot Singh Sidhu chapter in Punjab Congress. Priyanka Gandhi-Vadra and Rahul Gandhi used the maverick to unseat the then chief minister Amarinder Singh, but instead of making him the successor, passed on the baton to Charanjit Singh Channi. Sidhu kept sulking and continued to be a rebel despite being given charge of the Punjab unit.

A section of the party leaders had said the in-charge of the five states that went to polls should be made equally accountable and asked to tender their resignations. P9

Kept dynastic politics out in BJP, says Modi

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ New Delhi

PRIME Minister Narendra Modi on Tuesday took a fresh shot at dynastic politics, saying he specifically denied tickets to the wards of party MPs in the recent state elections since dynasty is dangerous for democracy.

"A number of MPs and party leaders were trying to get tickets for their children. Many of them didn't get it because it would have otherwise meant perpetuating dynastic politics," Modi said at the BJP's parliamentary party meeting here. He said upfront he took the tough call and even shared his reasoning with those MPs.

Not everyone was happy though, as one such ambitious son of a UP-based senior leader and MP, Rita Bahuguna Joshi, recently joined the SP after he was denied a ticket to contest the Assembly election in UP.

While he did not mention the Congress or SP in his address, the attack was clearly targeted at them. P10

Fully built houses may cost 15% more

THE Russia-Ukraine war is likely to push up prices of fully constructed residential dwellings by around 15 per cent from April 1, the beginning of next financial year.

Bhaskar Nagendrappa, president, Bengaluru Chapter of Confederation of Real Estate Developers of India (CREDAI) said there has been a record increase in steel, cement and construction material prices. The cost of crude oil and gases has gone up globally due to the war and any increase in fuel prices negatively impacts the sector, he said. P2

Palike gets 15 days to repair roads in CBD area

We all feel very sorry for the untimely death of M Ashwin, HC notes

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

FOLLOWING the tragic death of a 27-year-old who was riding a bike that hit a pothole, the Karnataka High Court on Tuesday directed the Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP) to conduct a survey of all major roads in the Central Business District (CBD) area in three days and carry out filling up or repair work on war-footing in 15 days.

A division bench of Chief Justice Ritu Raj Awasthi and Justice SR Krishna Kumar orally observed that it feels guilty whenever they see reports of accidental deaths due to bad roads after the court was informed about the incident on Sunday night in city when the public interest litigation filed by Vijayan Menon and others were taken up for hearing. The BBMP Chief Commissioner Gaurav Gupta and Engineer-in-chief S Prabhakar were also present.

M Ashwin died in an accident allegedly caused by a pothole at MS Palya which comes under the Yelahanka Zone of BBMP. Then court noted that we all feel very sorry for the untimely death of the young man.

The BBMP filed its response in compliance with an earlier order regarding the work plan to fill up or repair potholes in the CBD area of the city.

We are not satisfied with the work plan, the court said, and ordered that the work of repairing potholes should begin immediately on all the roads, using proper technology and making maximum use of machines which were earlier used to repair the potholes. Gupta and Prabhakar assured the court that they will make all possible efforts to complete major repair works in 15 days on war-footing. The court ordered that a survey report along with a status report of the work done would have to be submitted.

Meanwhile, BBMP counsel V Srinidhi submitted that the condition of most of the roads has worsened due to digging up of roads for development work taken up by various agencies who should also be impleaded as respondents so that they may also have the responsibility and co-ordination in proper maintenance of the roads.

Hence, the court permitted him to move appropriate application giving details of all those agencies for impleading as respondents.

BJP MLA TAKES GOVT TO TASK FOR FAILING TO CHECK STRAY DOG MENACE

Bengaluru: Basavanagudi BJP MLA Ravi Subramanya took the government to task saying that it had failed to check the stray dog menace across the state, and especially in Bengaluru. "Since sterilisation of stray dogs is not happening at the scale the government has claimed, the population has increased and they have become a menace," he said in the Assembly during Question Hour. He suggested that the rescued dogs be shifted to shelters by setting up camps in different parts of the city. Ravi Subramanya was supported by party MLAs S Suresh Kumar and Sathish Reddy. Replying to the legislator, Law Minister J C Madhuswamy clarified that owing to the Supreme Court's order, the issue has to be dealt with sensitivity.

60% STORM DRAINS RESTORED IN CITY, CLAIMS LAW MINISTER

Bengaluru: Law and parliamentary affairs minister J C Madhuswamy informed that the restoration of 'rajakaluves' (storm water drains) on a stretch of 700 km of the 800 km has been taken up in the city. Shivajinagara MLA Rizwan Arshad raised the issue during Question Hour that the government was ignoring his constituency which covers the Vidhana Souda as the storm water drains remain in terrible condition. "Around 60 per cent to 70 per cent of the rajakaluves have been restored with concrete walls on need-based programmes and the work on some 100 km is yet to be taken up. Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai had allocated Rs 1,500 crore under the Amrit Nagarothana scheme," said Madhuswamy. However, Arshad insisted that a special grant be provided for the work in and around Vidhana Soudha.

BWSSB to bear cost of road repairs

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

A day after the fatal accident of a 27- year-old Ashwin in MS Palya in Yelahanka constituency, the Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP) has started an aggressive inspection of all the roads in the city.

That is not all, the BBMP engineers also stated that they have repaired the road and will be handing over the bill for the works done to the BWSSB for clearance. "The final estimate is still being tabulated. Work of silting the roads, seeping water, closing the manhole, tarring road and leveling the surface have been undertaken. We admit that this has happened because of a lack of coordination and we have repaired the road. But the cost will have to be borne by the BWSSB," engineers from the BBMP zone told TNIE.

The engineers also said that they have started a thorough check of all the roads in the city and preparing a list of agencies and their works to fix accountability.

LONG WAIT

After 19 years, Anjanapura Layout to get 80-ft road

S LALITHA @ Bengaluru

THE Bangalore Development Authority (BDA) said it would be building an 80-ft road passing via its Anjanapura Layout, where sites were allotted 19 years ago. The decision comes following repeated demands from site allottees and political pressure also played a role.

A senior BDA official told TNIE, "The 6.8-km road will be built at a cost of Rs 23 crore. It will be a four-lane extending from Kanakapura Road to Gottigere via Anjanapura Layout. Tenders will be floated within a month."

Explaining the delay, the official said, "We had decided to build it in August 2020. But BDA was in poor shape financially. Our position has improved now after sale of many sites. Now, we have the resources to ready the road which will be of the standards of National Highways."

Bengaluru South MLA M Krishnappa, who met the BDA Commissioner and other top officials along with Anjanapura residents said, "The road will definitely be in place. I have been assured that tenders will be floated in a fortnight after the Ganesh Chaturti. Until the work begins, I will do what I can within my capacity to make the road motorable."

Anjanapura Further Extension Residents Welfare Association president P Sampath Kumar was relieved over the decision. "I am also the owner of a 40x60 sq feet site in the layout comprising nearly 8,000 site allottees. Only around 500 owners have built houses due to very poor infrastructure here," he explained.

Residents of the ninth, 10th and 11th Blocks do not have roads, Cauvery drinking water or underground drainage connection. The Anjanapura LBS Nagar Residents Welfare Association lamented to TNIE in a letter that both BDA and BWSSB have landed residents in a precarious situation for buying BDA sites as well as building houses in the Layout.

Govt must slash GST in real estate

AS the cost of material increased, construction cost has gone up by Rs 400 to Rs 600 per sqft since the war started three weeks ago, he said. It was increasingly becoming difficult to keep the projects going at the rate agreed upon two to three years ago. Prices of fully constructed residential dwellings are expected to go up between 10 per cent and 15 per cent and some companies have already announced the hike, he added. Stating that the real estate industry needs government support, he suggested a downward revision of GST and keeping RERA-linked deadlines flexible. A crisis cycle usually lasts for two to three years, but the industry has been facing many crises for the last seven years, he said.

Empty carrom boards on hijab verdict day

S LALITHA @ Bengaluru

As a fallout of the Karnataka high court verdict upholding the state government's ban on hijab, the 39th annual State Carrom Championship 2022 which was scheduled to commence in Shivajinagar was cancelled on Tuesday morning.

A total of 180 players including 20 women were to take part in the three-day event. Possible harm to participants forced organisers to take the drastic step.

The event was to take place at the BBMP Hall on Cockburn Road but the area had huge police presence, and following the verdict, wore a tense look as many shops remained closed. Moreover, with Section 144 in force, gatherings were prohibited.

Speaking to TNIE, Joint Secretary of the Karnataka State Carrom Association M Stephen said, "We had made all the arrangements for outstation players and provided them accommodation in Bengaluru. Police gave us permission for the event today but told us we could only stay inside and there should be no crowd outside. However, there are rankings for this event and it invites many spectators as well as family members. The tournament's charm is lost if public is not allowed." With the National Carrom Championship slated to be held in Maharashtra from March 30, many players were looking to make it to that level by securing a good ranking here and they are upset, Stephen added.

PETER VIDAL

16th March : I'd like to say another word about space travel. I'd love to see the earth from a space rocket. The problem is the price. The current rate for a commercial space tourist is about five million dollars. Plus, you have to be fit. I'm not sure if I'm going to make it this life-time. Perhaps you will – so please tell me what it's like!

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
You may make the most of friendly business trends and cash-in on current goodwill. You must believe that new opportunities are on the way and should act now to broaden your social contacts and encourage new connections. However, it may not be easy to get agreement from a partner.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21)
As long as Venus is well-placed, you may expect plenty of action and enjoyable group activities. However, your social life will tend to focus on work. Perhaps there'll be a new colleague appearing on the scene. At the very least, a rival should soon turn out to be a friend.

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)
Some happy surprises could affect money matters or home affairs. This looks like a fine time to stabilise and formalise domestic arrangements which, until now, may have been left up in the air, and there is much to be said for leaving awkward issues alone until you're on safer ground.

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)
The whole mood of the day encourages formal settings, traditional behaviour and conservative values, so do try to fit in. It may even be fun to enter into the fantasy of living in a past age. There could soon be a sharp change in your financial circumstances, so keep an eye open for new opportunities.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)
Your home and working life are well-starred, but you must be aware of an approaching financial crisis. Get your affairs in order and act now if there are any outstanding bills to pay or loans to call in. If you have become overloaded by emotional burdens this could be the moment to cut loose.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
The tension is now building up, as it does once or twice a month when the planets form certain intense patterns. You are now reaching a moment of decision and will at last be forced to get off the fence. Actually, you will welcome a return to the fray.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
You may feel reasonably justified in expecting a response to a recent suggestion or, at the very least, an answer to an important question. However, planetary activity over the coming days may muddy the waters even further, before clarity is restored next week.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
For once you are trying to be rational while others are losing their heads. Any changes that you are anxious to put into effect may involve more people than you at first thought. This is why you must grit your teeth and discuss even your personal plans with friends and acquaintances.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
It is at the most trivial level that your grand plans are capable of coming unstuck. So, issues of principle are all very well, but you would be advised to focus on routine and mundane details. You seem to be dominated by past feelings and actions and you'll need to make an almighty effort to bring yourself into the present.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
Restless conditions could make it difficult to settle down, so it may be better to get around and explore fresh possibilities. Is there a legal complication to resolve? If so, get on to it without delay. The best ideas could be offered by family members, so if it's advice you're after, look close to home.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
Long-standing money problems may be coming home to roost. Yet, rather than feel sorry for yourself, or dwell on what might have been, adopt an attitude of business as usual and compensate for any losses. Imminent changes at work may find you blaming others, but don't hit the wrong target.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
Whether your concerns are professional or strictly private, do not expect life to run smoothly today. Even if you do your best, someone else is bound to come along and stir it up. Well-meaning people will still admire all your magnificent efforts to restore peace and harmony.

Preparations in full swing for the vaccination drive for children aged 12-14 years, in Bengaluru on Tuesday. The drive takes off on Wednesday | ASHISHKRISHNA HP

Corbevax drive for kids kicks off today

Vaccination will be done only in govt units, free of cost

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

THE Karnataka health department has rolled out a detailed action plan for Covid vaccination of the 12-14 age group, starting Wednesday. The country's second indigenous vaccine, Corbevax, will be rolled out for the new group.

To ensure successful implementation of the vaccination drive, the department has in put in place a micro plan with logistics and staff. The state has an existing stock of 20 lakh doses of Corbevax. Vaccines have been dispatched to districts according to target, for the statewide launch on Wednesday.

Eligibility criteria for children will be those born on March 15, 2010, and earlier. The department stressed that only Corbevax should be administered after a proper check whether the child is eligible for vaccination. Each beneficiary will be administered two doses, and the second dose will given after 29 days. The certificate can be downloaded from the CoWin portal.

The vaccination drive will be taken up only in health department facilities, and only after the system stabilises will schools be allowed to set up vaccination centres, which will be handled by support staff. Meanwhile, children with comorbidities will be vaccinated under the supervision of a medical officer.

Schools conducting classes online can fix a day for vaccination, and call children to school on that particular day. The state will also ensure that school dropouts are mobilised with the support of the labour department, RDPR and Urban Development department. Private paediatricians are also requested to support the drive by dealing with the fear, anxiety and apprehensions of both parents and children. "District and taluk level officers have been instructed to create awareness on Covid vaccination for children and address hesitancy or other issues prevalent among parents," the release stated.

GUIDELINES

All districts to launch Corbevax drive for 12-14 years, those above 60

20 lakh doses available in state

Vaccination to be done only in healthcare facilities initially

Registration can be done online and onsite

Children with comorbidities to be vaccinated only in health facilities

Vaccination is free

No fresh registration needed for precautionary dose for those above 60 years

Those who have taken Covaxin or Covishield will get same precautionary dose

Experts watch China situation, say India won't be hit by new variant

CHETANA BELAGERE @ Bengaluru

OMICRON'S BA2.2 variant is creating havoc in China, but experts from the Indian SARS-CoV-2 Genomics Consortium (INSACOG) who are closely watching it, opine that India is safe. There may be no reason to panic until a new variant comes along which behaves very differently from Omicron, which triggered the third wave, they say.

While there are reports that a mutated version of Omicron's BA.2 sublineage, called BA2.2, has been found in some parts of China, experts in India say the characteristics of BA.2 and BA2.2 appear similar, and there is no change in the clinical symptoms of the sub-lineage. "India was already dominated by the BA.2 variant, as were Karnataka's third wave cases. With a high level of vaccination and infection combination, there is no reason for the state to worry. However, this virus tends to throw surprises, so wearing of masks, following Covid-appropriate behaviour and ensuring maximum vaccination with both doses and a precautionary dose is the key," Dr V Ravi, nodal officer, Nimhans, INSACOG, told TNIE.

Several experts said India doesn't have to worry unless a new variant with characteristics different from Omicron, arrives. However, Dr Jacob John, former professor at CMC Vellore, and renowned virologist, says the chance of another variant in India is highly unlikely. He explains that China's "zero-Covid" strategy, which uses mass testing and lockdowns to crush any hint of an outbreak, may not have worked with Omicron.

"Omicron's BA.1 and BA.2 lineages have infected a majority of India's population and our vaccination coverage has been very good. With infection-vaccination combined immunity, there is very little chance of another variant coming in. We have already crossed the river. Mutations happen when immunity is low and the spread is fast," Dr John says.

However, experts warn that the country should focus on being vigilant and sequencing should not stop. Dr Giridhara R Babu, epidemiologist and public health expert, tweeted on Tuesday, "Two highest priorities have not been addressed so far. Repeating myself again. Vaccination helps, not the end game in itself. Diverting all resources only to vaccines wont help. A global COVID19 control program is quintessential. A revised case definition should be part of this."

Pilot project on menstrual cups in 2 taluks

BALA CHAUHAN @ Bengaluru

TO help minimise environmental degradation and improve menstrual hygiene in adolescent girl students, the Department of Health & Family Welfare, Karnataka, is planning to conduct a pilot project on the use of menstrual cups in two districts. If the pilot project succeeds, Karnataka will be the first state in the country to introduce and promote menstrual cups in its public health policy.

"We are planning a pilot project on the use of menstrual cups in one taluk each in Chamarajanagar and Dakshina Kannada districts, among students in the age group of 10-19 years," said Dr Veena V, deputy director, Rashtriya Bal Swasthya Karyakram (RBSK), Rashtriya Kishor Swasthya Karyakram (RKSK) and Shuchi scheme on menstrual hygiene.

"The disposal of sanitary pads is a huge issue. They are disposed of as municipal solid waste at the moment. We are planning to provide menstrual cups as a healthy and environment-friendly option, but a lot depends upon awareness and acceptability. The pilot study will help us assess these factors," said Dr Veena.

Disposable sanitary products wreak irreversible damage on the environment, and end up in landfills. In comparison, one menstrual cup can last 10 years if used efficiently. At present, there are around 19 lakh student beneficiaries of sanitary pads in the state. Every year, each beneficiary is provided 12 units containing 10 pads each, free of cost. The government is spending Rs 47 crore annually on their procurement.

Awareness about menstrual hygiene has increased among adolescent girls in rural areas, since the inception of the Shuchi scheme in 2015-16 for girl students in government and government-aided educational institutions.

The Shuchi scheme, started in 2013-14, was initially sponsored by the Centre. However, from 2015-16, the Centre asked states to take over the scheme. The Karnataka government had come under fire for non-allocation of funds for Shuchi in its budget for 2020-21.

Chetan cites threat, meets minister, seeks security

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

SANDALWOOD actor Chetan Ahimsa on Tuesday approached Home Minister Araga Jnanendra, requesting that he be provided with a gunman, citing serious threat to his life from different groups. However, the Home Department is yet to take a decision.

The Police Department had earlier provided a gunman for his security, but the facility was withdrawn after his arrest by the Seshadripuram police over a tweet against an HC judge. Chetan also approached Police Commissioner Kamal Pant and three other officers to submit a requisition.

"A detailed requisition with proof of the threat especially on social media has been briefly narrated to the Home Minister and the gunman facility which was provided to me for over four years has been withdrawn without any prior intimation and without any reason. My life is under severe threat and the gunman's presence was acting as a deterrent," Chetan said.

GOVT HAS POWERS TO PRESCRIBE UNIFORM, RULES HIGH COURT

Says allowing wearing of hijab in colour of the uniform will establish 'social separateness'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE full bench of Karnataka High Court on Tuesday confirmed the State Government's order of February 5, banning the hijab in classrooms and prescribing uniform, by categorically holding that the government has powers to issue such an order and that no case was made out by the petitioners for its invalidation.

"Prescription of school dress code to the exclusion of hijab, bhagwa, or any other apparel symbolic of a religion can be a step forward in the direction of emancipation, and more particularly, to the access to education. It hardly needs to be stated that this does not rob women of the autonomy or their right to education inasmuch as they can wear any apparel of their choice outside the classroom", the bench said.

The full bench, comprising Chief Justice Ritu Raj Awasthi, Justices Krishna S Dixit and J M Khazi pointed out that the impugned order was issued in the interest of public order, considering the possibility of social unrest and public agitations.

The judges also noted that the extent of autonomy is enormous at home, since ordinarily, the residence of a person is treated as his inviolable castle. However, it is said that in 'qualified public places' like schools, courts, war rooms, defence camps, etc., the freedom of individuals, as of necessity, is curtailed consistent with their discipline, decorum, function and purpose. No reasonable mind can imagine a school without uniform. After all, the concept of school uniform is not of nascent origin. It is not that the Mughals or the British brought it here for the first time. It has been there since the ancient gurukul days, they said.

Holding that accommodating students to wear the hijab in the colour of the dress code, like in the Kendriya Vidyalayas, which would establish a sense of social separateness and is not desirable, the bench held that the petitioners have not made out a case to issue directions to initiate disciplinary inquiry against the college authorities, including the principal, for not adhering to the guidelines and writ of quo warranto against the college development committee chairman and MLA Raghupathi Bhat and vice chairman Yashpal Anand Sharma, for allegedly interfering in the college administration.

Police personnel deployed for security outside a college in Bengaluru on Tuesday | SHRIRAM BN

'Unseen hands engineering social unrest'

"From the submissions made on behalf of the respondent – the PU College at Udupi — and the material placed on record, we notice that all was well with the dress code since 2004. We are also impressed that even Muslims participate in festivals that are celebrated in the 'Ashta Mutt Sampradaya', (Udupi being the place where eight Mutts are situated). We are dismayed how all of a sudden, that too in the middle of the academic term, the hijab issue cropped up and was blown out of proportion. The way the imbroglio unfolded gives scope for the argument that some 'unseen hands' are at work to engineer social unrest and disharmony. We are not commenting on the ongoing police investigation, lest it is affected. We have perused and returned copies of the police papers that were furnished to us in a sealed cover. We expect a speedy and effective investigation into the matter and the culprits brought to book, brooking no delay", the full bench observed.

HIJAB ROW: The Questions The High Court Answered

Whether wearing hijab/headscarf is part of 'essential religious practice' in Islamic faith protected under Article 25 (freedom of conscience) of the Constitution?

HC Bench: Wearing of hijab by Muslim women does not form part of essential religious practice in Islamic faith

Whether the Government Order of February 5, apart from being incompetent, is issued without application of mind and further is manifestly arbitrary and therefore violates Articles 14 (equality) and 15 (shall not discriminate based on religion) of the Constitution?

HC Bench: The government has power to issue order prescribing uniform and no case is made out for its invalidation.

IN THE HC

Whether prescription of school uniform is not legally permissible, as being violative of petitioners' fundamental rights inter alia guaranteed under Articles 19(1)(a) (freedom of expression) and 21 (privacy) of the Constitution?

HC Bench: Prescription of uniform is only a reasonable restriction Constitutionally permissible, which the students cannot object to.

Whether any case is made out in petitions for issuance of direction to initiate disciplinary inquiry against college authorities in Udupi?

HC Bench: No case is made out for issuing directions

Eight 2nd PU students walk away from exam

ENS @Kalaburagi

FOLLOWING the Karnataka High Court's verdict in the hijab case, eight Second PUC students belonging to the minority community chose not to write their preliminary examination, as the college authorities did not allow them entry wearing hijab, at Kembhavi town of Yadgir district on Tuesday.

"Eight students, who came to the Government Junior College at Kembhavi town before the pronouncement of judgment on hijab by the High Court, requested the college authorities to allow them to sit in a room till the award of the judgment. The college authorities obliged and later conveyed to them the court's judgment. As the college authorities told the students that they won't be allowed for the exam (English paper) with their hijab on, they decided to return home, saying 'they will not write the exam without hijab'," Deputy Director of PU Education Chandrakant Hilli told TNIE.

Other high court orders different, says full bench

"PETITIONERS have miserably failed to meet the threshold requirement of pleadings and proof as to wearing hijab is an inviolable religious practice in Islam and much less a part of 'essential religious practice'," the full bench opined. It noted that facts of the cases in which Kerala and Madras High Courts delivered judgments were different.

These are the answers given to the first two questions out of four framed by the full bench in the verdict. The high court supported its verdict with several judgements of the Supreme Court and other high courts and dismissed a batch of petitions filed by six Muslim students from Government PU College for Girls, Udupi and others against hijab ban in class rooms.

Education, religion are like two eyes: Muskan's dad

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Mysuru/Mandya

FOLLOWING the High Court verdict in the hijab case, Mohammed Husain Khan, father of Mandya student Muskan Khan, said that education and religion are like two eyes, and both need to be taken into confidence to lead a peaceful life.

Muskan was allegedly heckled by saffron-clad students chanting 'Jai Shri Ram' a few weeks ago on her college premises, and the lone girl student had replied with chants of 'Allah hu Akbar'.

Muskan had earlier noted that she has faith in the Constitution and the court, and would respect the latter's verdict. On Tuesday, however, she declined to react to the court verdict.

Meanwhile, her father told reporters that religious leaders of their community will decide their next course of action. "After the heckling incident, my daughter has not attended college and she has to face her exams from March 24. We will meet the principal soon and discuss the next steps and also take suggestions from our religious leaders," he said.

Govt looking at banning groups that 'fanned' row: Home Minister

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

HOME Minister Araga Jnanendra on Tuesday asserted that the government has been deliberating about imposing a ban on certain organisations, which were allegedly behind the hijab row, and a decision on it will be taken soon after an investigation.

"Unless being instigated by bigots, the children would not have resisted following norms, including wearing of uniforms, and they would not have continued their protests. We have been closely watching the activities of such organisations that incited these incidents, and are collecting information to take a call on banning them," he told reporters at Vidhana Soudha, on the sidelines of the ongoing budget session.

"The communal forces had tried to break the unity and sovereignty of the country. The Home Department has zero tolerance for them and will expose them soon," he further warned.

Terming the Karnataka High Court's verdict that the hijab does not form an essential religious practice in Islamic faith, he felt it gave solace to the society, besides strengthening education.

"I also got information that some have already moved the Supreme Court with a writ petition. It is quite but natural in a democracy, but the Karnataka Government will also follow it," Jnanendra remarked, adding that they have stooped to the level of restricting children from attending classes and the parents should seriously think about this.

The minister clarified that the Deputy Commissioners and the police chiefs concerned will take necessary action, depending upon the situation in their respective districts as to whether the prohibitory orders should remain in force.

Meanwhile, Deputy Leader of Opposition U T Khader welcomed the order and advised the children and the parents to follow it, since it is in the interest of their education.

'Order may force Muslim girls to quit studies'

VINCENT D'SOUZA @Mangaluru

THE High Court verdict on the hijab issue may lead to girls from conservative Muslim families dropping out of school/ colleges besides further ghettoisation of the community in the communally sensitive Coastal Karnataka, some sections of society feel.

The HC verdict came as a big shocker to the Muslim community in Dakshina Kannada and social media was abuzz with posts expressing severe displeasure over the verdict, with many even terming it 'unconstitutional' and 'unacceptable'.

Umar U H, president of the Muslim Writers' Association, Mangaluru, felt that the verdict will mainly hit the poor and conservative Muslims who are dependent on government colleges, while others have the option of shifting to private institutions that allow the hijab. According to him, over 75 per cent of Muslims in the region are poor, who cannot afford to send their wards to private colleges and said the court should have taken this into consideration.

Dr Chandra Poojary, retired professor of Hampi University, wondered how the court came to the conclusion that hijab is not an essential practice of Islam. He feared that the development could lead to ghettoisation of Muslims in Dakshina Kannada, but felt that Muslim girls will stand to benefit in the long run if they accept the verdict now and go back to college.

DKS asks govt to ensure education is not hampered

Bengaluru: KPCC president DK Shivakumar on Tuesday said the State Government must ensure that the education of students is not hampered, regardless of religion and gender. "My greatest concern in the hijab controversy is education, and law and order. The Karnataka High Court has given a judgment, but the responsibility for education, law and order and communal harmony is still with the government," the Congress leader said. He asked the government to show mature leadership and ensure that law and order is maintained in and around schools and colleges, and education of students is not hampered.

Feel betrayed by verdict: Petitioners

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Udupi

ALMAS A H, one of the six students of the Women's Government PU College in Udupi, who had challenged the ban on hijab inside classrooms before the Karnataka High Court, said that she feels betrayed by the verdict which noted that wearing the hijab is not an essential religious practice. ''The Karnataka Government pressured the High Court to get a verdict in its favour,'' she remarked.

Further, Almas said that as all the six petitioners feel it is important to wear the hijab in classrooms, they have decided not to attend college from Wednesday. ''Though we have not decided yet about approaching the Supreme Court, we will consult our lawyers for legal advice,'' she said and added that they had hoped that the HC will deliver justice to them. Another student, Aliya Assadi, argued that with the verdict, the court has denied them their Constitutional rights on wearing the hijab. "Now that we have our parents' support for our cause, we will focus on our studies as well," she said. However, she did not mention how they will continue their education without attending classes from Wednesday.

Aliya also said that students feel bad that a matter that could have been solved within the college campus was blown out of proportion as some people wanted to take 'political mileage'. She said that they were struggling to face all the troubles since the row erupted, because the Quran mentioned that wearing hijab is compulsory for Muslim women.

Five of the student petitioners, except Shifa, were present.

Panchamasali seer warns of stir for 2A tag

ENS @Bengaluru

LINGAYAT seer Mrutyunjaya Swamiji here on Tuesday warned the government of a long-drawn protest if it fails to accord the 2A reservation status to the Panchamasali community by April 24, which is Amebdkar Jayanti.

"Jai Panchamasali" shouts filled the air as the seer held a meeting with core members of his team, including MLA Basanagouda Patil Yatnal, former MLA Vijayanand Kashappanavar and others, in the city.

The seer, who had walked 712 km and held a rally of over 10 lakh people at Palace Grounds in July last year, said the deadline of March 31 sought by the government to accord the most backward status to Panchamsalis is nearing, but it is yet to take up the issue in the ongoing legislature session.

A report by the Backward Castes Commission should be accepted and implemented by April 14, he said. He cautioned all community MLAs that people will not support them in elections if they do not proactively support the demand.

Cong protests 'The Kashmir Files' show for legislators

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE Legislative Council on Tuesday witnessed uproar and protests from members of the Congress, who entered the well of the House, after Council Chairman Basavaraj Horatti announced that the film 'The Kashmir Files' would be screened for legislators.

As soon as the proceedings resumed on Tuesday, Horatti announced that the movie will be screened at a multiplex in the evening. Opposition leader BK Hariprasad stood up saying arrangements should also be made to screen 'Parzania' and 'Water', while MLC Saleem Ahmed questioned as to why the government was forcing legislators to watch the movie instead of discussing the budget.

Minister ST Somashekhar intervened saying it was not compulsory, and whoever is interested can watch the film. The Congress vehemently opposed the move, saying that such announcements should not be made from the Chair. "There are other films related to Gujarat also. They should also be screened," said Hariprasad. As minister Byrathi Basavaraj intervened, Hariprasad attacked him by claiming that he needed the Congress party to become corporator and MLA, and jumped ship to the BJP to become a minister. Demanding withdrawal of the announcement, the Congress members entered the well of the House. Leader of the floor and minister Shrinivas Poojari reiterated that screening was only for those who are interested, to which Harisprasad replied, "Some have also watched porn in the House. So, should we also go and watch such movies?"

Hariprasad's statement led to a heated exchange of words between the ruling and the opposition parties and the proceedings were adjourned for a while. When the House reconvened, Horatti explained that it was his job to announce notices issued by the government. Citing an RTI reply, Hariprasad claimed that 89 pandits were killed in Kashmir and alleged that the film contained only lies.

SC stays ban on MediaOne channel

The court asked the Union Government to file its counter affidavit by March 26

THE Supreme Court on Tuesday stayed the telecast ban on Malayalam channel MediaOne imposed by the Union government citing security reasons. The apex court passed the interim order after perusing the files relied on by the government to revoke the security clearance of the channel.

A three-judge bench of the apex court passed the order on a special leave petition filed by Madhyamam Broadcasting Limited, which runs the channel, challenging the Kerala High Court's order upholding the decision of the Ministry of Information and Broadcasting not to grant security clearance to MediaOne "on the basis of intelligence inputs which are sensitive in nature".

The bench, comprising Justice Chandrachud, Justice Surya Kant and Justice Vikram Nath, took a short break to peruse the contents of the files cited by the government, and observed "we are of the view that the case of grant of interim relief has been made out."

"We order and direct that Union government order revoking security clearance of Madhyaman Broadcasting Limited stands stayed pending further orders. The petitioners shall be permitted to continue operating the news and current affairs channel MediaOne on the same basis as the channel was being operated prior to the revocation of clearance."

The court asked the Union government to file its counter affidavit by 26 March. The question relating to disclosing the contents of the files that led to revocation will be kept open, the bench said.

A division bench of the Kerala High had earlier dismissed an appeal filed by MediaOne channel against a single judge order upholding the I&B Ministry's action of reWvoking license of the channel and removing its name from the list of permitted broadcasters. "There are certain aspects affecting the public order or the security of the State on the basis of the report of the Intelligence Bureau and other investigating agencies," the HC bench had observed. The Union government had suspended the channel's airing on 31 January.

CM Pinarayi Vijayan welcomed the verdict. "Our nation considers freedom of expression as paramount," he said.

CPI, CPM share Rajya Sabha seats

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ T'Puram

THE CPI will have two Rajya Sabha MPs from the state after a gap of 11 years. The LDF meeting held here on Tuesday decided to give one seat each to the CPM and the CPI. The CPI announced Kannur district secretary P Santhosh Kumar, 51, as its candidate for the elections to be held on March 31.

V P Sanu, A A Rahim or Chintha Jerome will enter the fray if the CPM decides to go for a young candidate. The names of senior leaders Thomas Isaac and A Vijayaraghavan too are doing the rounds. Three seats from the state will fall vacant, with the terms of senior Congress leader A K Antony, and LDF's M V Shreyamskumar and K Somaparasad ending on April 2. Of them the LDF is poised to win two and the UDF one.

LDF constituents NCP, JDS and LJD too had staked claim for a seat, but CM Pinarayi Vijayan insisted on CPI and CPM contesting considering the political scenario at the national level.

"CPM state secretary Kodiyeri Balakrishnan announced the decision at the LDF meeting. NCP and some other parties suggested that one seat could be shared between two parties for three years each, but it was not accepted," said a source.

A CPI state council member, Santhosh had served as AIYF national president and general secretary. In 2011, he contested from the Irikkoor assembly seat but lost. Known to be close confidant of state secretary Kanam Rajendran, he is one of the CPI's prominent faces in north Kerala.

K'taka will contribute $1.5 trillion to economy by 2025: Bommai

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

CHIEF Minister Basavaraj Bommai on Tuesday said Karnataka's economy will pick up pace by 2025, and contribute $1.5 trillion to transform the country into a $5trillion economy.

In his address at the 'Vision of Karnataka 2025' conclave organised by the Federation of Karnataka Chambers of Commerce and Industry (FKCCI), Bommai said, "I am confident of Karnataka making a significant contribution of $1.5 trillion to realise Prime Minister Modi's dream of making India a $5-trillion economy. GDP growth will double and with financial discipline and planning, there will be growth in the agriculture, industry and services sectors."

He claimed to have given a growth impetus in his budget. "The size of the budget has been increased by Rs 19,000 crore. Even experts had not expected this. It was predicted that as a pre-election budget, it would be loaded with freebies. But we have come to the rescue of those who helped the state, and those who toiled," he said.

Infrastructure projects like roads, railways, airports and ports have received a big boost. Special Investment Regions would come up at Dharwad and Tumakuru, and Food Parks in every district. The Chennai-Mumbai Corridor, Textile Parks at Kalaburagi and Vijayapura would lay a strong foundation for sustained economic growth, he explained.

Bommai stressed the need for equity in economic growth. Special emphasis has been given for the development of Bengaluru. Peripheral Road is approved and packages have been finalised for Ring Roads for all cities. Our government is laying a strong foundation for a bright economic future," he said.

Eight arrested for forging papers, selling NRI's sites worth ₹8 cr

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

YELAHANKA New Town police on Monday arrested a gang of eight, including two rowdy-sheeters and a woman, for forging property documents and selling sites to gullible customers. Police have recovered 2,130 fake stamp papers, 17 fake sub-registrar seals, and a typewriter from the accused.

The arrested are Dharmalingam (48) of Chikkabommasandra, Manjunath (43), Pradeep (28) of Yelahanka, Abdul (41), YR Manjunath (51), Abdul Ghani (67) of Bhadrappa Layout, Shabana Banu of Shampura, and Auto Rama (43) from Huliyurdurga.

Preliminary investigations revealed that Pradeep and Auto Rama were running the racket. The gang would move in and around Bengaluru to identify sites and land belonging to NRIs and create fake GPAs and sale deeds with backdated stamp papers. They used fake seals and signatures of sub-registrars to draw up documents and sell the land to gullible customers. They had managed to sell sites worth Rs 8 crore, a senior police officer said.

The accused would share the money according to the roles the accused had played in each case, the officer explained.

The scam came to light after a complaint was filed recently, and police learnt that the gang had created fake records of a 2400 sqft site at Chikkabommasandra in Yelahanka New Town. The gang was attempting to register the land, belonging to Dr Prashanth Reddy, an NRI, in one of their associate's names, and started looking for prospective clients.

Meanwhile, Reddy's father Jayapratap, residing in the same area, came to know about these fraudulent activities and confronted the gang who warned him to stay away or face dire consequences. Scared, Jayapratap approached the police who swung into action and took all the accused into police custody for further investigations.

Women as bartenders? Excise can't gulp it down

> Employing women at bars is a violation of the rules. Apart from this, we have also found some irregularities in the stock register. The penalties for these two violations are Rs 25,000 each
> P V Aliyas, Excise DC

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Kochi

AT a time when the Kerala government plans to allow pubs in the state to boost the tourism sector, its excise department on Tuesday registered a case against the manager of a bar hotel in Kochi after it engaged three Russian women as bartenders during its launch party last Friday. Employing women as bartenders is a violation of the Kerala Foreign Liquor Rules and Abkari Act, excise officials said, adding they also found some irregularities in the bar's stock register.

The bar in question is 'Dance Pub' at Harbour View Hotel located near Cochin Shipyard. And the incident happened during its inaugural function after the bar was renovated under the name 'Fly High', which was billed as 'Kerala's first pub' in social media campaigns.

"Employing women at bars is a violation of the rules. Apart from this, we have also found some irregularities in the stock register. The penalties for these two violations are Rs 25,000 each," said Ernakulam Excise Deputy Commissioner P V Aliyas. He clarified that the department has not suspended the bar's licence.

Trouble started after the excise officials carried out an inspection at the bar on Monday night. While they found irregularities in the stock register, the case for employing women as bartenders was registered based on Friday's video that circulated on social media.

As per the amendment to the Foreign Liquor Rules notified as SRO No. 959/2013 dated 9/12/2013, a new rule (27A) has been incorporated prohibiting women from being employed "in any capacity for serving liquor on the licensed premises".

"We would be submitting a report to the excise commissioner. It is up to the discretion of the excise commissioner to suspend the bar's licence," Aliyas said.

AMARAVATI VERDICT HAS IMPLICATIONS WELL BEYOND AP

The Andhra Pradesh High Court has delivered its verdict on a batch of petitions in the much-awaited Amaravati capital case, ruling that reneging on the promise of developing the megapolis amounts to violation of fundamental rights of the farmers who had surrendered lands for the purpose. Quoting extensively from several judgments, and citing doctrines of legitimate expectation and promissory estoppel, it held that the agreement between the farmers and the Capital Region Development Authority (CRDA) is statutory in nature.

In further relief to the landowners, the court directed the government to complete infrastructure development within six months without deviating from the masterplan and return developed plots within three months. It was of the view that since ₹15,000 crore had already been spent, and works worth ₹32,000 crore grounded, abandoning them midway would cause economic distress to the state. In this context, the court rejected the government's excuse of paucity of funds. This judgment was more or less expected, especially after the government had withdrawn its three-capital bills. Nonetheless, the verdict has other dimensions that have the potential to cause a rupture between the judiciary and legislature. In its 307-page order, the court significantly ruled that the state legislature has no "legislative competence" to relocate the capital. Drawing from Articles 3 and 4, it clarified that only Parliament has such authority. Interestingly, it pointed out that the Constitution is silent with regard to the power of the Parliament or the state to fix the capital on bifurcation/separation and held that consequently, it is the court's duty to interpret the same. Similarly, it found merit in the argument that the AP Reorganisation Act, 2014, by which Telangana was separated from Andhra Pradesh specified only "a" new capital for the latter—meaning Parliament intended only one capital for the state!

Another aspect is that the court ruled against the three-capitals proposal despite the fact that the government had withdrawn the bills on the ground that its revival was imminent. Can a court decide on a non-existent legislation? Is its take on legislative competence tenable? These are surely contentious. The Amaravati verdict has far-reaching implications well beyond Andhra.

WITH WOMEN ON TOP, BJD SOLIDIFIES BASE

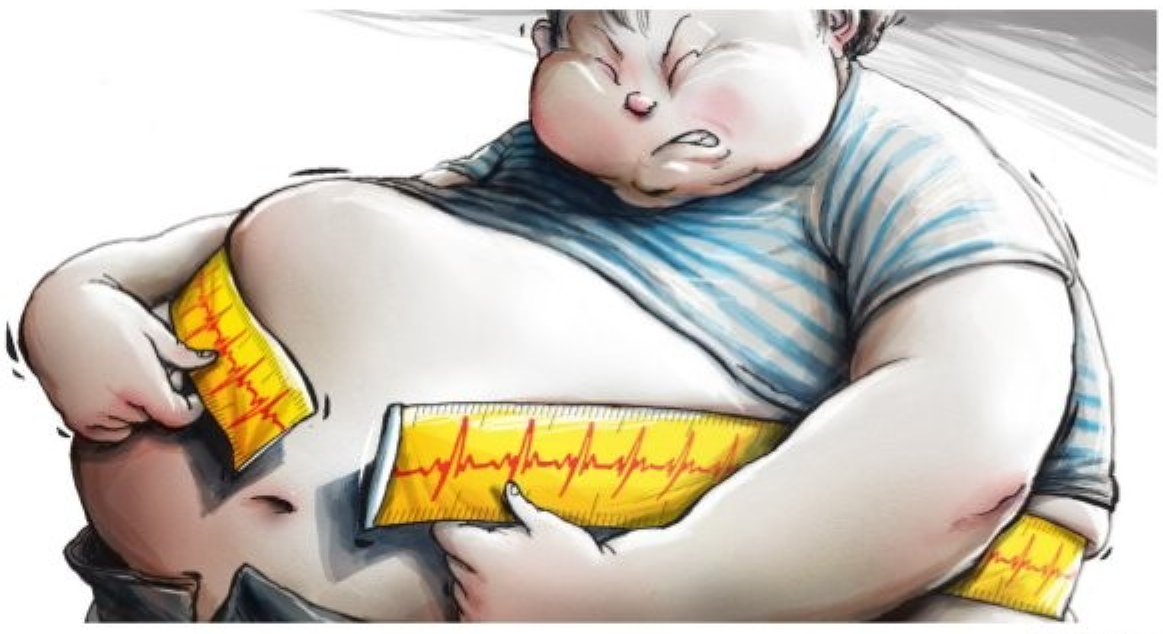
The BJD has been rewriting electoral records in Odisha. After winning the panchayat elections with a staggering mandate, the regional outfit—as expected—formed zilla parishads in all 30 districts of Odisha. It is for the first time in the country that a political party has stamped its complete dominance in the three-tier system across a state. But BJD boss Naveen Patnaik has not stopped at that. He picked women to head these councils in 21 districts, which is another first. Districts that are large and also those predominantly inhabited by tribal communities will have women as zilla parishad presidents. Samari Tangul, a 26-year-old woman, will head the council in Odisha's southernmost district, Malkangiri, which was once synonymous with Maoist menace and backwardness. Naveen, who has been espousing the cause of greater representation of women in legislative bodies, is happy to entrust the responsibility of development to young and educated women—going beyond the 50% reservation mark in the panchayat polls.

Women have always been a key constituent for the BJD and the party has for long designed its policies to empower them socially as well as politically. Hence the CM's decision to give women a bigger representation in the scheme of things is no surprise. In the recently concluded Assembly elections, women voters emerged as a key factor for the BJP in Uttar Pradesh, Uttarakhand, Manipur and even Goa. In the big electoral ground of UP, the saffron party is said to have received a significantly higher share of votes from women compared to men, thereby tilting the balance decisively.

The BJD, which has been in power for the last 22 years in Odisha, is not only setting a benchmark by giving political leadership to more and more women but also making clear its intentions for future elections. Naveen's ability to remain ahead of the curve has been his biggest hallmark as a political leader. He is now slowly but surely solidifying the party's base by giving women a lead place at the table, thus making the BJD almost unbeatable.

From unethical marketing of breast milk substitutes to aggressive promotion of high calorie foods, sections of the food industry have propelled the global obesity pandemic

COUNTERING THE CHALLENGE OF CHILDHOOD OBESITY



SOUMYADIP SINHA

DR K SRINATH REDDY

Cardiologist, epidemiologist & President, Public Health Foundation of India (PHFI)

The predominant challenge of childhood malnutrition in India has been rightly identified as undernutrition, which continues to be widely prevalent. The latest National Family Health Survey reveals that, of children under five years of age surveyed during 2019–21, 35.5% are stunted, 32.1% are underweight and 19.3% are wasted. While the POSHAN Abhiyaan is trying to address these threats to the survival, physical and cognitive development of kids, another form of childhood malnutrition presents a growing threat to India's health. That is the underestimated and under-recognised threat of obesity in childhood and being overweight at an young age.

Part of the problem lies in the method of measurement and classification. The proportion of children classified as being overweight/obese in the NFHS-5 survey is 3.4%.

This appears low in comparison to the burden of undernutrition but the absolute numbers are large in view of India's population size. The rates are even higher and rising in the 5–19 year age group. The Comprehensive National Nutrition Survey estimates that the numbers of overweight-obese children in that age group will rise from 17 million in 2016–18 to 27 million in 2030.

However, these numbers substantially underestimate the problem because they are based on body mass index (BMI), which relates body weight to height. While BMI is the conventional measure used to identify and classify overweight-obesity, it does not differentiate body fat from lean muscle mass and bone weight. Unfortunately, many Indian children and adults have a higher proportion of body fat and lower levels of lean muscle mass when compared to other population groups in the world.

It is the amount of body fat (adiposity), especially its location around the abdominal organs (visceral obesity), that mostly determines the adverse metabolic and health effects of obesity. Several Indians are called normal or thin when classified by BMI but have high adiposity and visceral obesity. They have an increased risk of cardiovascular disease and diabetes, even when not recognised as obese persons by BMI. India has a large number of such 'thin diabetics'. Stunted children too have high levels of general and visceral adiposity and carry the risk of early adult onset diabetes, heart disease and stroke.

Maternal nutrition plays a major role in determining body adiposity and metabolic risks across the life course of the offspring. The risk is mediated by epigenetic modification of gene expression and can extend across several generations. Undernourished women give birth to underweight children, who later become stunted as they are metabolically programmed for managing lower calorie availability and cannot handle food increases in later childhood, especially if non-nutritious food delivers empty calories. Overweight women are more likely to give birth to overweight babies. Stunted children as well as overweight babies are more likely to develop diabetes and heart disease in adulthood—a double whammy of childhood malnutrition! NFHS-5 reported that 18.7% of women in the 15–49 year age group were underweight while 24% were overweight or obese.

Overweight-obesity in children has been related to poor feeding practices in infancy and childhood. Exclusive breastfeeding till the age of six months, addition of appropriate complementary foods thereafter, and a balanced, nutritious diet for the growing child are essential for ensuring that the kid does not suffer from any form of undernutrition, obesity or micronutrient deficiencies. From home feeding to diets provided in anganwadi centres and mid-day meals in schools, the principles of nutritiously fulfilling diets must be followed. Physical activity too can increase lean muscle mass, reduce adiposity and guard against cardio-metabolic risk. Balanced diets and physical activity can possibly reset distorted epigenetic mechanisms.

Child psychologists say kids under six who watch TV cannot distinguish between advertising and programme content. Children under eight cannot understand the persuasive intent of advertising. Regulatory agencies must curb exploitative advertising of unhealthy foods

Commercial drivers of faulty feeding can greatly aggravate the risk of childhood obesity. From unethical marketing of breast milk substitutes for infant feeding to aggressive promotion of high calorie-low nutritive value foods and beverages targeting children and adolescents, sections of the food industry have propelled the global pandemic of obesity over the past seven decades. There is a strong association between exposure to advertising and consumption of non-nutritious foods. In addition to billboards and traditional broadcast media (radio and television), new media (internet advertising, text messaging and social media manipulation, video games), partnership with toy manufacturers, animation film and video games industries as well as celebrity endorsements are creating a craving for addictive ultra-processed foods and sugary drinks. Social media technologies are abetting directed marketing based on both demographic and psychological profiling of their young users.

Child psychologists say children under six years of age who watch television cannot distinguish between advertising and programme content. Children under eight cannot understand the persuasive intent of advertising. Regulatory agencies must curb such exploitative advertising of unhealthy foods and beverages. Multi-sectoral policies too must be implemented to make healthy foods easily available and affordable, while promoting physical activity. It has been said that obesity could make the present generation of children have a shorter life expectancy than their parents. That prediction should never come to pass and the present generation of adults should wake up to its responsibility.

A MAGNIFICENT VARAHA PANEL IN MADHYA PRADESH

SRINIVAS SISTLA

Associate Professor, Department of Fine Arts, Andhra University, Visakhapatnam

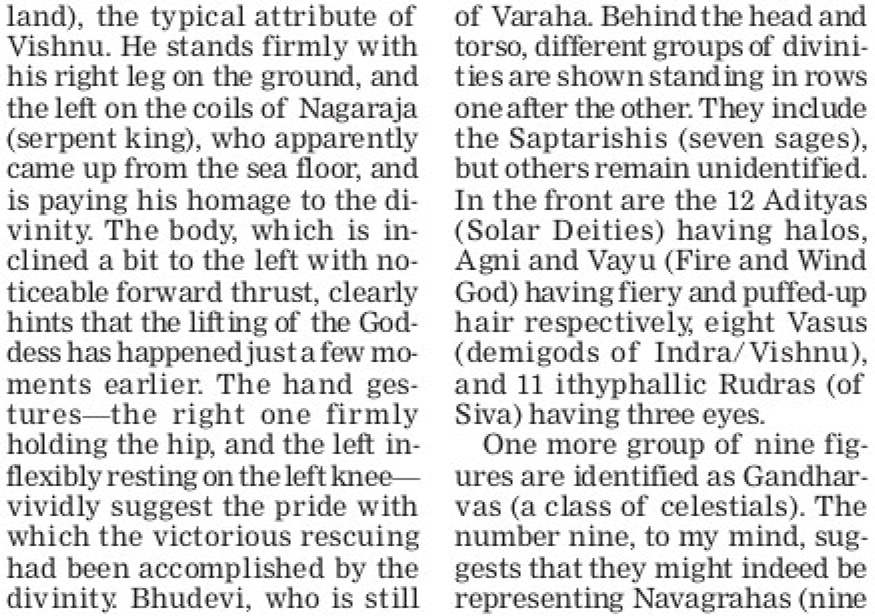
God Vishnu's third incarnation, Varaha (wild boar), has been widely represented in ancient Indian sculptures, paintings and even in modern prints. One version of the tradition says that the Earth was sinking as it was unable to bear the weight of the constantly growing population and the consequent increase in grain production. And so, Varaha saved the Earth by lending his support. Another widely known account says that when the demon Hiranyaksha stole Bhudevi (Earth Goddess) and hid her in the ocean, Varaha recovered the Goddess from there. The origin of both the versions, in my opinion, seems to be connected to the natural behaviour of the boar, which digs wet grounds constantly with its snout and tusks for food.

Of all the visualisations of Varaha lifting up Bhudevi, a few sculptures of the Gupta era (4th to 6th centuries) stand out from the rest as great masterpieces of Indian art. Udayagiri, near Vidisha (Madhya Pradesh), contains 20 rock-cut caves, including a large niche (Cave 5), which covers the myth in a panel of outranking scale and incomparable magnitude. The composition and its meaning, to be honest, could only be grasped at the site of the work or with the aid of dozens of photographs, but not just one. Archaeologist Debala Mitra has published a monograph on the iconography of the panel, though I have not been able to read her book so far. Many art historians have also written about various aspects of the work. But for now, I only discuss a few significant features of the panel.

The work, in my opinion, comprises three distinct pictorial spaces: the upper half of the background, with many groups of divinities, represents the sky; the lower half, with a few figures and subtly carved wave patterns, denotes the ocean; and the front floor, with figures on an uneven surface, signifies the Earth. Thus, the composition clearly hints that the magnificent figure of Varaha (about 13 feet in height), having a well-built human body and a ferocious boar's head, has not only rescued Bhudevi, in the form of a graceful woman, from the seabed but also lifted her up to the realm of the divinities.

The Varaha figure is shown wearing a pleated garment around his waist and a long and thick vana maala (flower garland), the typical attribute of Vishnu. He stands firmly with his right leg on the ground, and the left on the coils of Nagaraja (serpent king), who apparently came up from the sea floor, and is paying his homage to the divinity. The body, which is inclined a bit to the left with noticeable forward thrust, clearly hints that the lifting of the Goddess has happened just a few moments earlier. The hand gestures—the right one firmly holding the hip, and the left inflexibly resting on the left knee—vividly suggest the pride with which the victorious rescuing had been accomplished by the divinity. Bhudevi, who is still clinging on to the boar's tusk, appears to be trying to sit on the left shoulder of her saviour.

Small figures of Brahma in a lotus, Siva on the Nandi, Narada and Tumburu carrying musical instruments surround the head of Varaha. Behind the head and torso, different groups of divinities are shown standing in rows one after the other. They include the Saptarishis (seven sages), but others remain unidentified. In the front are the 12 Adityas (Solar Deities) having halos, Agni and Vayu (Fire and Wind God) having fiery and puffed-up hair respectively, eight Vasus (demigods of Indra/Vishnu), and 11 ithyphallic Rudras (of Siva) having three eyes.



The Gupta-era masterpiece in Cave 5 in Udayagiri, near Vidisha, Madhya Pradesh

One more group of nine figures are identified as Gandharvas (a class of celestials). The number nine, to my mind, suggests that they might indeed be representing Navagrahas (nine planets), which go well with the Visva-rupa (Universal Form) Varaha. Below the 'planets', 32 figures, standing in two overlapping rows, have been identified as sages wearing tree barks and holding a rosary and water pot in their hands. The number 32 reminds me of the age-old category of the 32 vidyas (knowledge). Therefore, in my opinion, each sage seems to represent a master of one vidya.

On the Earth, a figure behind the right leg of Varaha is identified as Laxmi/Bhudevi; two figures behind Nagaraja, one kneeling and the other standing, as Chandra Gupta II and his minister, Virasena, or a royal donor and his attendant respectively; and another one, emerging out of the waves, as Samudra (Ocean God). In addition, the composition also includes Ganga and Yamuna (River Goddesses), and so on.

An inscription states that the Udayagiri Varaha shrine was consecrated in 402 CE by Virasana, a loyal subordinate of Chandra Gupta II (c. 375–415 CE), who had conquered the Udayagiri region (Malwa) in about the same year. The Guptas ruled from Prayaga (Uttar Pradesh) where River Ganga and Yamuna meet.

Chandra Gupta's father, Samudra Gupta (c. 335–375 CE), was named after samudra or the ocean. Many such historical aspects have led art historians to draw allegorical parallels between various figures and forms in the panel and the actual individuals and incidences of the time.

Reduce dependence

This is with reference to India needs plan to deal with prolonged war in Ukraine (Mar 15). Crude touched $139 a barrel though it has fallen a bit now. But the scenario is unpredictable and the Centre must have out-of-the-box strategies and also start exploring for oil in our country so that dependence on foreign countries is minimal.

Don't instigate students

After the landmark verdict delivered by the Karnataka High Court on the hijab row, the matter must now be put to rest. The court pointed out that it isn't an essential religious practice and not mandated in the Quran. All petitioners and parties must honour the verdict and abide by it. Educational institutions should be a seat of learning. Both poor and rich students study in the same educational institutions and so uniforms help instil a sense of equality. Political parties should refrain from instigating students as this will spoil the careers of the youngsters.

Ragging menace

The abuse of juniors, or ragging, is a scourge that has melded into the Indian educational setup and threatens to degrade the sanctity of educational institutions and values of learning. Physical, mental and sexual abuse by senior students leave a permanent scar on the psyche of juniors and haunt them for the rest of their life. It is indeed shocking and shameful that post-graduate medical students, who are supposed to be role models and are aware of ragging's perils, are themselves involved in it (PG students suspended for ragging, Mar 14). Despite Kerala enacting legislation to deal with the problem, the continued prevalence of ragging shows the ineffectiveness of existing laws to counter it, and also the failure of college authorities to stop it. Ragging in any form must not be tolerated, and those indulging in it deserve stern punishment.

Rising sexual abuse cases

In two separate cases in Kerala, women have lodged complaints against a tattooist and a bridal make-up artist for sexual assault (Mar 13). Strict action should be taken in these cases. Sexual abuse cases appear to be increasing in society. And women should also have a rethink and not visit male artists for getting a tattoo on their private parts.

Even contests in Tests

This is with reference to Keep fans engaged with Test matches (Mar 15). Like all creative artists, cricketers thrive on the adrenaline rush that comes from instant appreciation from the audience. Therefore, it is the responsibility of the ICC to ensure that cricket-playing nations roll out result-oriented wickets for Test matches that are evenly matched between bat and ball.

'Missile launched accidentally but system reliable'

Defence minister says any shortcoming found after review of SOP will be promptly rectified, Pakistan adamant on joint investigation

MAYANK SINGH @New Delhi

Rajnath Singh said India's safety procedures are of the highest order | PTI

INDIA is carrying out a high-level inquiry into the incident in which a missile was accidentally launched during inspection and landed in Pakistan, Defence Minister Rajnath Singh said on Tuesday.

Addressing the members in the Rajya Sabha, Rajnath expressed regret about the March 9 accidental firing and assured the House that India's missile system is very reliable and the safety procedures are of the highest order.

"I would also like to state that a review of the SOPs for operations, maintenance and inspections is being conducted in the wake of this incident. We attach highest priority to safety and security of our weapon systems. If any shortcoming is found, it would be immediately rectified," he asserted.

India is relieved that nobody was hurt due to the accident and takes serious concern of the incident, the defence minister said. A formal high-level inquiry was ordered which would determine the exact cause of the accident, he added.

"I can assure the House that the missile system is very reliable and safe. Moreover, our safety procedures and protocols are of the highest order and are reviewed from time to time. Our armed forces are well-trained and disciplined and are well experienced in handling such systems," Rajnath said.

In Islamabad, Pakistan's Foreign Minister Shah Mahmood Qureshi rejected the "incomplete and insufficient" response of the Indian defence minister and again sought a joint probe. ''What Indian defence minister said is incomplete and insufficient. It is not enough to satisfy Pakistan. I reject that and demand a joint probe. This was a highly irresponsible act and the answer given is equally irresponsible,'' Qureshi said.

Pakistan had flagged the episode on March 10 when a top military officer said that a high-speed flying object entered the country. The next day, India acknowledged the accidental firing of the missile and said that it happened due to a technical malfunction during routine maintenance.

No NRC decision at national level

New Delhi: Union Minister of State for Home Nityanand Rai informed Parliament that government is yet to take a decision on preparing the National Register of Citizens at national level. Rai was responding to a question by TMC MP Mala Roy who asked about the status of having a NRC for the entire country. Roy also asked when the work related to NRC will be completed along with the status of NRC in Assam. In a written reply, Rai said, "Till now, the Government has not taken any decision to prepare National Register of Indian Citizens at the national level." "On the Supreme Court directions, the supplementary list of inclusions and the list of exclusions for NRC, Assam were published on August 31, 2019," he added. ENS

Over 22K brought back from Ukraine: Jaishankar

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @New Delhi

EXTERNAL Affairs Minister S Jaishankar, while sharing details of Operation Ganga in Rajya Sabha on Tuesday, said that despite the challenges 22,500 Indians were brought back home from war-torn Ukraine.

"At the direction of the Prime Minister, we launched Operation Ganga. Indians were dispersed across Ukraine, posing logistical challenges for the government. As tensions increased, the Indian Embassy in Ukraine started a registration drive for Indians in January. Around 20,000 registered. Most Indian nationals were students pursuing medical courses in Ukrainian universities," Jaishankar said.

In view of continued build-up of tension, the embassy issued an advisory on February 15, advising Indians in Ukraine whose stay was not essential to leave temporarily. It also advised Indians not to travel to Ukraine or undertake non-essential movements within Ukraine.

More than half the students were in universities in eastern Ukraine that borders Russia and has been the epicentre of the conflict so far. "Students hail from 35 states/UTs with over 1,000 students each from Kerala, UP, Haryana, Tamil Nadu, Gujarat, Maharashtra, Bihar and Rajasthan," Jaishankar added.

There are some odd people... We are tracking them. We have issued repeated advisories saying anybody left behind, please tell us wherever you are. At this moment, we have an operation to get out some students who are stuck in South (Ukraine) through Russia

Congress may choose Sequeira or Amonkar as GPCC chief

NAUSHAD BIJAPUR @ Belagavi

GOA Pradesh Congress Committee (GPCC) president Girish Chodankar, a noted party face, resigned from his post in the wake of the party's poor show in the recently-concluded assembly elections in Goa. Chodankar posted his resignation to All India Congress Committee (AICC), and the party leadership is expected to replace him shortly.

Despite a high-voltage campaign involving top leaders, the Congress managed to win merely 11 seats against BJP's 20 seats, in the 40-member Goa legislative assembly. A long-drawn campaign, headed by Chodankar, did not help the Congress meet the expectations of pollsters, and failed to get closer to the majority mark.

According to sources, the two frontrunners for the top position are GPCC Working President Alex Sequeira and Vice-President Sankalp Amonkar, who won in the recent elections.

Former Chief Minister Digambar Kamat is also one of the contenders for the post, but sources said the party is likely to elevate either Amonkar or Sequeira.

Several political analysts attribute the poor performance of the Congress in Goa to its failure to have a pre-poll tie-up with regional parties like TMC, MGP and AAP, which were keen on a grand alliance to defeat the BJP.

TMC election in-charge Mahua Moitra had repeatedly announced in Panaji, well ahead of the election, that her party was prepared for a pre-poll alliance with the Congress, which ignored the TMC's offer.

Analysts feel Chodankar would have certainly given the party a new dimension before the polls by working with other smaller parties. Senior party leader P Chidambaram was also not serious about the TMC's offer as the central leadership was confident of achieving a majority.

BJP POLL PROMISE

Mega centres to tackle stray cattle menace?

LUCKNOW: Taking note of the public anger over stray cattle, the BJP is looking at the feasibility of setting up large and sustainable protection centres with biogas plants in all 75 districts of Uttar Pradesh.

The party decided to tackle the issue on priority as it had a great resonance on the ground. PM Narendra Modi had also promised to the voters of finding a lasting solution to the stray cattle problem on priority after coming to power.

As per the plan, a fine would be imposed on those found freeing the cattle to feed on crops in rural areas, said sources. The provision of the fine already exists in cities.

The animal husbandry department on Monday, the sources said, made a presentation to chief secretary DS Mishra. However, the final approval would be once the government is sworn in.

With a housing capacity of at least 1,000 cattle, each centre would have a biogas plant to produce cooking gas and sell it to locals besides making products from dung.

Currently, the UP government is protecting nine lakh infirm cattle at protection centres of which one lakh are with farmers. Those entrusted with protecting cattle are given ₹900 per month per cattle.

If the plan works out, the source said, panchayati raj department and local civic bodies would be entrusted with catching and putting stray cattle in rural and urban areas, respectively. Namita Bajpai

Buck stops with Sidhu, Channi: Leaders

HARPREET BAJWA @Chandigarh

PUNJAB Congress leaders have demanded that former Chief Minister Charanjit Singh Channi and Punjab Congress president Navjot Singh Sidhu should be shown the door and blamed them for the party's debacle in the polls.

In a meeting of party candidates from the Malwa region of the state called by AICC Punjab affairs in-charge Harish Chaudhary on Tuesday, many leaders blamed infighting and indiscipline for the heavy defeat.

Gurpreet Singh, who lost from Bassi Pathana seat from where Channi's brother Manohar Singh fought as an independent candidate, blamed Channi. "The former Punjab CM is the only reason for the defeat. People did not like Channi as the CM face. He should be expelled. How could people of Punjab listen to Channi when his brother did not. Had Sidhu been the CM face, we would have won at least 50 seats," he said.

Pointed out that Sidhu himself lost from Amritsar East, Singh blamed Channi again. "When Channi was the CM face, what could Sidhu do?''

Former minister Balbir Singh Sidhu said, "Both Channi and Sidhu should resign as they are responsible for this defeat. When I was removed from the cabinet after Amarinder Singh was shown the door, what was my fault? Now, both of them have scripted the debacle of the party. Infighting led to this. Channi's statement on migrant workers from Uttar Pradesh and Bihar in the state also triggered an uproar."

Another former minister, Randeep Singh Nabha said internal fighting and indiscipline among senior leaders prompted the voters to think that AAP was a better alternative. The point of indiscipline was raised also by Amarinder Raja Warring, a former minister. "Congress lost due to indiscipline and senior leaders who did not speak to each other.''

Former minister Bharat Bhushan Ashu said, "The reasons because of which we lost will be out in the open soon. I do not think that the party was weak or we lost because of the leadership.''

Chaudhary said he was taking responsibility for the defeat. Channi and Sidhu also attended the meeting but did not comment.

New bench for Lakhimpur

New Delhi: The Supreme Court said it would set up a bench to hear on Wednesday a plea challenging the bail given by the Allahabad HC to Ashish Mishra, son of Union minister Ajay Mishra, in the Lakhimpur Kheri violence. It also took note of the submission that there was an attack on one of the prime witnesses of the case.

TRIO IN DELHI AS BJP BRASS CALLS MANIPUR CM PROBABLES

PRASANTA MAZUMDAR @Guwahati

THE game of thrones in Manipur has begun. Caretaker Chief Minister N Biren Singh, senior minister Thongam Biswajit Singh and BJP state president A Sharda Devi left for Delhi on Tuesday morning after being called by the party's central leadership.

The trio would meet Union Home Minister Amit Shah, BJP national president JP Nadda and party general secretary (organisation) BL Santhosh. "The central leaders are likely to meet each one of them individually before meeting them together. These meetings will more or less decide the next CM candidate," a BJP source said.

Singh and Biswajit stand out among the CM probables.

The BJP central leadership has appointed Union Ministers Nirmala Sitharaman and Kiren Rijiju as their observer and co-observer for Manipur. The duo would arrive in Imphal on Wednesday.

Meanwhile, the BJP has been virtually reduced to two camps. Singh had invited the MLAs for a high tea at his official residence on Monday. It could not be ascertained how many of them showed up. One camp claimed only 9 turned up while another camp claimed 26 had come.

What is, however, confirmed is that some senior leaders, including Biswajit, were not among the attendees.

The BJP has secured majority by winning 32 of the total 60 seats and is in a position to form the government on its own in the Northeast state. Singh, however, had earlier stated the saffron party would align with like-minded parties in the state.

Entrance test for foreign med graduates on June 4

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @New Delhi

THE National Board of Examinations in Medical Sciences (NBEMS) on Tuesday announced conducting the Foreign Medical Graduate Examination (FMGE) on June 4.

The move will help students evacuate from Ukraine. The result will be announced by June 30, it said.

"The National Board of Examinations in Medical Sciences shall conduct the FMGE June 2022 on June 4 on a computer-based platform at test centres across the country," the Board said. It also said that applications could be submitted online from March 15 to April 4.

According to Dr Rohan Krishnan, national president of Federation of All India Medical Association, "This is a good and a welcome move and was announced keeping in mind the Ukraine returnees."

"It will help students who have returned from Ukraine and have completed their final exams. The announcement shows that the government wants to accommodate these Ukraine evacuees," he added.

The National Medical Commission (NMC) had earlier allowed foreign medical graduates who could not complete their internship due to Covid or war to complete it in India.

The Commission had also asked the state medical councils to process the applications of such foreign return interns who have cleared the FMGE, a must to pursue medicine in India.

Register or walk-in for vax: Centre gives both options to kids

NEW DELHI: An estimated 4.71 crore children in the age group of 12-14 will be vaccinated against Covid-19 from Wednesday, while 13.75 crore persons above 60 will become eligible for booster shots, the government said on Tuesday.

Vaccination registrations on the CoWin portal for these two age groups will start on Wednesday at 9 am. There will also be the option of on-site walk-ins, said Union Health Secretary Rajesh Bhushan at a virtual meet with states and UTs.

He said if a registered beneficiary has not attained the age of 12 on the date of vaccination, he or she should not be given the vaccine.

The government has said Corbevax, manufactured by Biological E. Limited, will be administered at all government vaccination centres free of cost. It also clarified there should be no mixing of vaccines. At the moment, children between 15-18 are being given Bharat Biotech's Covaxin.

Bhushan advised the states to ensure judicious utilisation of vaccines so that there is no wastage. "As per earlier guidelines, states can replace those that are due for expiry."

The Centre has asked states to hold dedicated sessions through earmarked centres, and train vaccinators to avoid mixing of vaccines. ENS

Opinion divided over jabbing 12-14 age group

KAVITA BAJELI-DUTT @New Delhi

EXPERTS have questioned the need to vaccinate children in the age group of 12-14 years, saying that there is no scientific data proving that this will protect them from COVID-19.

Top epidemiologist Dr J P Muliyil said the government's decision to allow vaccination of this group from Wednesday will not "benefit them."

He also said the decision of vaccinating children was not approved by the National Technical Advisory Group on immunisation (NTAGI), which recommends government evidence-based immunization related decisions.

The government had said that the decision to vaccinate was taken "after due deliberations with scientific bodies."

"I fail to see the reason (why it was cleared)," said Muliyil, who is a former principal of Christian Medical College in Vellore. He is also a member of the working group of NTAGI. He stressed there is "no evidence that children suffering from high-risk diseases if given vaccines will avoid death."

Children, who survived Omicron, have developed defence, he said, adding it is "very far-fetched and hypothetical to think" that the vaccine will protect them from another variant.

Dr Sanjay Rai, principal investigator of Covaxin trials at AIIMS, also said there is no additional benefit of vaccination among children." "For any public health policy, there should be a clear cut objective. Mortality among children is very low. In children, the risk of COVID-19 is lower but adverse events following immunisation could be more. We need to generate more data."

However, Dr N K Arora of NTAGI said the recommendation is in line with the WHO. "Keeping in mind programmatic challenges of identifying children with co-morbidity, who constitute 10-15% in every age group, the government in its wisdom has taken the decision to immunise all above 12 years."

After battle for Assembly, UP braces for more polls

Elections to legislative council, municipal bodies to be held this year

NAMITA BAJPAI @ Lucknow

DUE IN 2022

36 seats in Legislative Council go to polls on April 9

11	17	199	438
Rajya Sabha seats	Municipal Corporations	Municipal Councils	Nagar Panchayats (blocks)

AFTER the big battle for 403 Assembly seats, Uttar Pradesh continues to be in poll mode. More electoral tussles are on the cards this year.

The stage is set for the Legislative Council elections on 36 seats in April, the process for which took off on Tuesday. Another 13 seats of Council will go to polls in July, besides 11 Rajya Sabha seats of the state quota. Moreover, the first referendum on BJP's performance in its second term will be seen during the urban local body polls due in November-December.

Under the revised schedule, voting for 36 council seats will take place in a single phase on April 9 and results will be announced on April 12. The nomination process began on Tuesday. As almost all the districts are part of the election, the model code of conduct will be in force across the state till the council elections.

For BJP, which came back to power with a two-third majority in the Assembly elections, it will be an opportunity to make itself the single-largest party in the House, and thereby enjoy a majority in both Houses of the UP Legislature. In the 100-member UP Legislative Council, BJP at present has 35 MLCs, SP 17 and the BSP four MLCs. Congress, Apna Dal (Sonelal) and NISHAD party have one member each. As many as 37 seats are vacant at present.

Ahead of the Assembly polls, a number of SP MLCs had joined BJP. They included Narendra Singh Bhati, Shatrudra Prakash, Rama Niranjan, Ravishankar Singh Pappu, CP Chandra, Ghanshyam Lodhi, Shailendra Pratap Singh and Ramesh Mishra.

Three new members will be nominated to the state Council on the recommendation of the state government in place of Balwant Singh Ramuwalia, Zahid Hassan and Madhukar Jaitley, who would retire under the nominated quota on April 28. Three more of SP — Dr Rajpal Kashyap, Arvind Kumar Singh, Dr Sanjay Lather — will be replaced by the new members nominated by the Governor on the recommendation of the state government on May 26.

Moreover, 13 members of the Council, including CM Yogi Adityanath and Keshav Prasad Maurya, will complete their term on July 6. This will necessitate elections on 13 seats.

The strength of Congress will be down to zero, as its lone member will complete his term in July. Moreover, with the Congress standing decimated with just two MLAs in Assembly, it will not be in a position to get even one of its members either elected or nominated to the Council. BSP, which has got reduced to just one MLA, will come down to just one member in the Council because three of their members will retire on July 6. Lone BSP member BR Amebdkar's term will end in 2024. After that, BSP will have no presence in the Council.

BJP may dump veterans in Gujarat

DILIP SINGH KSHATRIYA @ Ahmedabad

PM Modi with party leaders at BJP's Gujarat headquarters last Friday | EXPRESS

AFTER election results in four states, BJP is mulling changes in strategy for Gujarat, including dumping some senior leaders. As per early indications, around 60 of its MLAs will not be given tickets because the party wants to field new and younger faces. Assembly election in the state is expected in December.

According to a BJP source, while addressing leaders at Kamalam (BJP's Gujarat headquarters) last Friday, Prime Minister Narendra Modi indicated there could be drastic changes and the state unit should be prepared for that. The source said these changes would include dropping some veteran ministers and MLAs to bring in fresh blood. The source added that in a lighter vein, Modi had told the gathering that there would be tears, apparently hinting that heads will roll.

State BJP president CR Patil had announced in the run-up to the civic body polls last year that the party would not field candidates who are above 60 or those who have served three-four terms in the Assembly.

Now, there are whispers that Patil's words will come true. If that happens, senior leaders including former CM Vijay Rupani, former Deputy CM Nitin Patel, former education minister Bhupendrasinh Chudasama and at least four dozen other leaders could be pushed into political oblivion. Party sources also claimed that the career of 77 candidates who lost to Congress in 2017 is over. It was a close call last time and BJP won 90 seats.

Rupani has said he will accept whatever responsibilities the party gives him, while Patel has so far shied away from making a comment, saying that he will discuss this when the time is right.

Notably, Modi completely ignored Rupani during his visit to the headquarters on Friday. Rupani seems to have been sidelined of late, after Bhupendra Patel took over as chief minister last year.

Some experts do not think age is a factor. Political analyst Dilip Patel said, "There is only one criterion in the Modi-CR Patil regime and that is 'winnability'. If a candidate is 100 years old and can win elections, both leaders will not hesitate to field such a candidate."

BJP favours early polls in J&K, expects first-ever CM from party

Srinagar: Buoyed by the party's victory in the Assembly elections in four states, the BJP in Jammu and Kashmir wants elections in the UT to be held once the delimitation process is completed. The party is hopeful of forming next government in the Union Territory with the first-ever chief minister from the saffron camp and Jammu region. Talking to this newspaper, senior J&K BJP leader and former deputy chief minister Kavinder Gupta said the party is ready for polls and wants that the elections to be held immediately after the Delimitation Commission submits its report to the Central government. The Delimitation Commission is expected to submit its report to the Centre before May 6. The strength of J&K Assembly has been increased from existing 83 (46 in Kashmir region and 37 in Jammu region) to 90 (47 in Kashmir and 43 in Jammu). ENS

Direct impact on religious freedom: Muslim outfits

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

SEVERAL prominent Muslim organisations such as All India Muslim Personal Law Board (AIMPLB), Jamiat Ulama i Hind, Jamaat-e-Islami Hind (JIH) and Students Islamic Organisation of India (SIO) on Tuesday opposed Karnataka High Court's verdict upholding hijab ban in schools.

In separate statements, the key Muslim bodies said the verdict would have a direct impact on religious freedom.

"This verdict would have many negative implications, especially on the education of Muslim girls as they would lose their right to choice and their confidence in the present communal atmosphere," said Maulana Mahmood Arshad Madani, president of Jamiat Ulama-i-Hind.

Maulana Madani said decisions regarding any particular religion should be based on the accepted interpretation of the beliefs by the authoritative scholars and jurists of that religion and the courts should not take a different path in this regard.

The AIMPLB said the verdict was not just disappointing but also discriminatory. "Right to wear attire, dress or clothing as per his or her choice is fundamental right given to any citizen. Moreover, the verdict is against various sections of the Constitution. There are instances when the government allows use of religious symbols and permits traditional practices. Against this backdrop, stopping Muslim girls from wearing hijab is discriminatory," said Maulana Khalid Saifullah Rahmani, general secretary of the AIMPLB.

Overlooks key issue: SIO

SIO termed the verdict as "problematic". "It overlooks the key issue of access to education and includes unnecessary treatise on the place of hijab in the Islamic faith."

FIR against BJP MLC in bank scam case

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Mumbai

THE Mumbai Police on Tuesday booked BJP MLC and Leader of Opposition in the State Legislative Council Pravin Darekar in connection with an alleged bank scam.

The FIR against Darekar was registered on Monday under various IPC sections, including 420 (cheating), 406 (criminal breach of trust) and 120-b (criminal conspiracy), following a complaint by AAP leader Dhananjay Shinde.

The complainant alleged Darekar showed himself as a labourer to get membership in the bank and get elected as a director in the labour category. However, it was found out that the BJP MLC never worked as a labourer. Darekar was the bank's chairman from 2011 to 2021 and allegedly indulged in various irregularities.

Meanwhile, BJP leaders alleged the Maha Vikas Aghadi government was trying to frame party leaders.

Ruckus in Bihar Assembly, Oppn seeks Nitish's apology for 'insulting' Speaker

RAMASHANKAR @ Patna

RJD legislators wear black ribbons in protest against CM Nitish Kumar in Patna | PTI

THE Bihar Assembly on Tuesday witnessed ruckus after the opposition parties sought apology from Chief Minister Nitish Kumar over his alleged "insult" of Speaker Vijay Kumar Sinha on Monday.

Notably, the Speaker didn't attend the House proceedings on Tuesday and remained in his chamber in the Assembly. Nitish, too, abstained from the proceedings and chose to offer chadar at the famous Manersharif dargah on the outskirts of the capital.

The Speaker has been miffed with some arrests in a case of prohibition violation in Lakhisarai and the privilege committee had last week recommended action against a couple of police officials who were disrespectful towards Sinha when he broached the matter with them. The contention of Nitish was that the government was looking into the matter and it was wrong on part of Sinha to allow the matter to be raised inside the House.

Opposition legislators came to the House wearing black badges as a mark of protest over what they described as an "insult" of the Speaker by the CM on Monday over investigation into the Lakhisarai incident. Demanding apology from Nitish, leader of opposition Tejashwi Prasad Yadav said the "game" has started in Bihar as two major constituents of the ruling NDA are trying to destroy each other.

RJD MLA Bhai Birendra said the House proceedings would remain paralysed till the chief minister apologies to the Speaker for his conduct in the House. "The Speaker is the custodian of the legislators across party lines. So it is an insult to the entire House," he added.

In the absence of Speaker, senior BJP leader Prem Kumar, who was on the Chair, tried to pacify the agitating members but in vain. Finally he adjourned the proceedings. Earlier, education minister Vijay Kumar Chaudhary tried to defend Nitish in the House. "There was nothing unusual. It was a mere discussion between the Speaker and the CM over Lakhisarai incident," he said.

Bombay HC rejects Malik's plea for release

Mumbai: The Bombay High Court on Tuesday rejected Maharashtra cabinet minister and NCP leader Nawab Malik's interim application seeking immediate release in a case of money laundering, saying just because the special PMLA court's order remanding him in custody is not in his favour, it does not make that order illegal or wrong. The court said Malik had access to legal representation. The high court further said the minister still had the option to apply for bail in the case before the special court.

With rise in temperature, Bihar reports more cases of encephalitis among kids

RAMASHANKAR @ Patna

Acute encephalitis syndrome (AES) has started taking its toll on children in Bihar following the rise in temperature which is considered conducive for the spread of the viral disease. Two children with symptoms of AES have been admitted to Sri Krishna Medical College and Hospital (SKMCH) in Muzaffarpur in the last three days.

"The reports of the fresh cases of suspected AES are awaited. They have been admitted to the preventive intensive care unit ward and are under close observation of a senior doctor of the hospital," said Dr Gopal Shanker Sahani, head of paediatrics department of SKMCH.

The SKMCH has already earmarked 100 beds for AES patients. On Monday, the hospital released a roaster of 30 doctors to deal with the AES cases, which have started being reported with the rise in summer temperature.

Also, special training has been imparted to two doctors each for the AES-affected districts. Muzaffarpur, Vaishali, Sitamarhi, East Champaran and Samastipur in north Bihar have been identified as worst-affected by the AES. Five blocks — Minapur, Kanti, Musahari, Kudhani and Bochaha — in Muzaffarpur had earlier recorded maximum AES cases.

Nodal officer Satish Kumar said preparations were made in advance to deal with the AES, which severely affects children in the age group of six months to 15 years during summer. "All the health facilities in the AES-hit areas have been put on alert," he added.

In 2021, 11 out of 51 AES-affected children admitted to the SKMCH had died. In 2019, altogether 164 children had died due to AES in Muzaffarpur and its surrounding districts.

Blistering heat and humidity are considered favourable for the virus. The authorities have already started awareness campaign in the worst-hit areas asking people to take precautionary measures.

46 mob lynching cases in last five years in Jharkhand

MUKESH RANJAN @ Ranchi

FOR the first time, Jharkhand government admitted that 46 incidents of mob-lynching have taken place in the state during the last five years, but at the same time, it refrained from divulging the number of deaths in those incidents.

In a reply to the question raised by CPI (ML) legislator Vinod Singh in the Assembly on Monday, State Parliamentary Affairs Minister Alamgir Alam informed that 51 accused in 11 incidents of mob lynching have been awarded life imprisonment and ₹19.9 lakh has been paid to aggrieved families as compensation.

MLA Singh had asked the state government whether a total 58 incidents of mob lynching has taken place in the state between 2016 and 2021.

Alam said: "A total of 46 incidents of mob lynching took place in Jharkhand during the period 2016-2021." A maximum of 16 incidents took place in 2017, nine in 2019 and eight in 2021, he added.

The minister said an anti-lynching bill has been passed in the Assembly. MLA Singh said conviction is yet to take place in most cases and compensation has not been paid to most of the victim families.

Minister leaves car to take walk on bad road

Union minister and local BJP MP Faggan Singh Kulaste, who had compared a road with cheeks of yesteryear actor and fellow party MP Hema Malini in Amarpur village of Dindori district last month, had recently stepped down from his car and walked on a bad patch of road in Duniya Baghad village of the same tribal-dominated district. Faggan Singh Kulaste, however, played down the matter before media persons, saying that he had willfully decided to get down from the car and walk on the bad patch of road adopted by him, as he wanted to build roads in the village on priority.

RUSSIA STEPS UP BOMBARDMENT OF KYIV

Strikes in residential areas kill dozens; 2,000 cars leave Mariupol via humanitarian corridor

KYIV

RUSSIA stepped up its bombardment of Kyiv on Tuesday, smashing apartments and a subway station, while civilians in 2,000 cars fled Mariupol along a humanitarian corridor in what was believed to be the biggest evacuation yet from the desperately besieged seaport.

As the number of people driven from the country by war eclipsed 3 million, large explosions thundered across Kyiv before dawn from what Ukrainian authorities said were artillery strikes, as Russia's assault on the capital appeared to become more systematic and edged closer to the city centre.

Ukrainian President Volodymyr Zelenskyy said barrages hit four multi-storey buildings in the city and killed dozens of people. The shelling ignited a huge fire in a 15-storey apartment building and spurred a frantic rescue effort.

The strikes, carried out of the 20th day of Russia's invasion, targeted a western district of Kyiv, disrupting a relative calm that returned after an initial advance by Moscow's forces was stopped in the early days of the war.

The UN said close to 700 civilians in Ukraine have been confirmed killed, with the true figure probably much higher. The Ukrainian government said new aid and evacuation efforts would take place along nine corridors around the country, including the Kyiv region. Past attempts have repeatedly failed amid continued fighting.

One of the most desperate situations is in Mariupol, the port city of 4,30,000 where local officials estimate a weekslong siege has killed more than 2,300 people and left residents desperate for food, water, heat and medicine.

The Mariupol city council reported that 2,000 civilian cars had managed to leave along a humanitarian corridor that runs for more than 260 km west to the city of Zaporizhzhia.

Fighting has intensified on Kyiv's outskirts in recent days, and air raid sirens wailed inside the capital. Mayor Vitali Klitschko announced a 35-hour curfew extending through Thursday morning.

Tuesday's artillery strikes hit the Svyatoshynskyi district of western Kyiv, adjacent to the suburb of Irpin.

Flames shot out of the 15-storey apartment building and smoke choked the air as firefighters climbed ladders to rescue people.

The assault blackened several floors of the building and ripped a hole in the ground outside. AP

FOX NEWS PHOTOGRAPHER KILLED IN UKRAINE

Kyiv: Pierre Zakrzewski, a video journalist for Fox News, was killed in Ukraine when the vehicle he was traveling in outside of Kyiv with another reporter was struck by incoming fire, the network said on Tuesday. He was the second journalist killed in Ukraine in two days. AP

MARTIAL LAW EXTENDED

Kyiv: Ukraine's parliament has voted to extend martial law for another month. Acting on President Volodymyr Zelenskyy's request, Ukrainian lawmakers voted on Tuesday to extend the martial law for another 30 days starting March 26. Under the measure, men between 18 and 60 are barred from leaving the country so they can be called up to fight in the war against Russia.

Moscow rallies militias ahead of urban assaults

PARIS

A Russian call for fighters from Syria and Chechnya to join its war in Ukraine is motivated by plans to take major cities with urban warfare tactics which will require overwhelmingly superior attacking numbers, Western observers say. After three weeks of fighting, all of the 1,50,000 Russian soldiers initially deployed at the Ukrainian border are now inside the country, experts say.

"The Russians have no more reserves in the zone," a source at the French military chiefs of staff said.

But if Russian President Vladimir Putin wants to capture major cities such as Kyiv and the Black Sea port of Odessa, he will have to bolster troops on the ground after an initial campaign phase that has been slower than the Kremlin expected.

This could equate to a numerical superiority of roughly 10 attackers for every Ukrainian soldier defending the urban centres, according to a military source. Local knowledge, mobility and early occupation of vantage points typically favour defending forces in urban combat, adding the source.

The Kremlin said on Friday that volunteers, including from Syria, were welcome to fight alongside Russia's military in Ukraine.

On Tuesday, a war monitor said Russia had drawn up lists of 40,000 fighters from Syrian army and allied militia ranks to be put on standby for deployment in Ukraine. In a country where soldiers earn between $15 and $35 per month, Russia has promised them a salary of $1,100 to fight in Ukraine, the Observatory reported. "Putin needs more troops than he thought he would. He needs irregular troops because this war is becoming insurrectional," a Western security source said. AFP

POLITICAL OFFENSIVE

Moscow sanctions Biden, top US officials

Moscow: Russia's foreign ministry said on Tuesday that US President Joe Biden and a dozen other top officials had been banned from entering the country in a reciprocal response to US sanctions. The measure, which also applies to Secretary of State Antony Blinken and Defence Secretary Lloyd Austin, "is the consequence of the extremely Russophobic policy pursued by the US administration", it said.

UK govt bans luxury exports to Russia

London: The UK government on Tuesday announced a ban on exports to Russia of high-end luxury goods and imposed new import tariffs on key Russian products like vodka as part of a latest wave of economic sanctions in response to the Russia-Ukraine conflict, including restrictions on 370 more Russian and Belarussian individuals. "We will keep increasing the pressure on Putin," said Foreign Secretary Liz Truss.

Ukraine realises it can't join NATO, says Zelenskyy

Kyiv: Ukraine's President Volodymyr Zelenskyy says the country realises that it can't join NATO. Speaking on Tuesday to representatives of the UK-led Joint Expeditionary Force (JEF), Zelenskyy said: "We heard for years about the allegedly open doors" of NATO, but "we have already heard that we won't be able to join." He added that "it's the truth and we simply have to accept it." AP

Russian state TV staffer fined for live anti-war protest

New York: A Russian state television employee who interrupted a live news programme by protesting against the war with Ukraine was ordered to pay a fine by a Russian court on Tuesday. Marina Ovsyannikova, an employee of Russia's state-run Channel One, walked into the studio during Monday's evening news show with a poster saying 'no war' and 'Russians against the war.' Moscow's Ostankino District Court ordered Ovsyannikova to pay a fine of 30,000 rubles on charges of organising unsanctioned actions for her call to take part in demonstrations against the war.

Braving conflict, many women join flow back into Ukraine

PREZEMYSL (POLAND)

WHILE tens of thousands of people have fled Ukraine every day since Russia's invasion, a small but growing number are heading in the other direction.

At first they were foreign volunteers, Ukrainian expatriate men heading to fight and people delivering aid. But increasingly, women are also heading back. Motivated by a desire to help loved ones in trouble, or just to contribute to the defence and survival of their country and compatriots in ways large and small, such women are braving the bombs that have increasingly pounded Ukraine since Russian forces invaded on February 24.

Many are not refugees themselves but women who had been living and working abroad. Others had already chosen to stay put in their country but were forced to cross the border to shop for needed goods as supplies dry up under the onslaught at home.

"I will go back and help. I am a health worker, so the hospitals need help," said Iryna Orel, 50, tugging her luggage before boarding a train from Przemysl, Poland, to Lviv in western Ukraine. "And I will stay until the end.' Poland has taken in more than 1.8 million refugees, or over 60% of the total exodus of 3 million people since the invasion. In the same period, Polish border guards have estimated that at least 1,86,000 people have journeyed into Ukraine, more than four in five of them Ukrainians. AP

RECEIVED US GUARANTEES ON IRAN N-DEAL: RUSSIA

MOSCOW

RUSSIA'S Foreign Minister Sergei Lavrov said on Tuesday that Moscow had received guarantees from Washington on its ability to trade with Tehran as part of ongoing talks to salvage the Iran nuclear deal. "We received written guarantees. They are included in the text of the agreement itself on the resumption of the Joint Comprehensive Plan of Action on the Iranian nuclear programme," he said during a press conference with his Iranian counterpart in Moscow.

More than 10 months of talks in Vienna have brought major powers close to renewing the 2015 Plan of Action on regulating Iran's nuclear programme. The negotiations halted after Moscow demanded guarantees that its military incursion into Ukraine would not damage its trade with Iran. Lavrov said that guarantees it had received from Washington would protect Russian involvement in Iran's sole Bushehr nuclear energy plant.

He accused Washington and its partners of directing the penalties "primarily against ordinary citizens". AFP

Amazon-Future talks end in stalemate

The companies on direction from the SC had a twelve-day window to resolve their 18-month long dispute

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @Mumbai/New Delhi

TALKS between e-commerce giant Amazon, Future Retail and Future Coupons ended without making any headway, lawyers of the companies informed the Supreme Court (SC) on Tuesday. The companies on direction from the SC had a twelve-day window to resolve their 18-month long dispute that has stalled the ₹24,713 crore deal between Future group and RIL.

With the talks bearing no fruit, Amazon has sought certain interim reliefs from the SC, which will hear their application on Wednesday. One of the reliefs was highlighted in a public notice issued by Amazon against Future Retail (FRL) and its promoters on Tuesday.

The notice warns FRL and its promoters of Amazon initiating criminal and civil litigation against them for what it terms is the transfer of retail assets to RIL in a "clandestine" manner. Citing the Singapore-based emergency arbitrator's order restraining FRL and its promoters from taking any steps to consummate the deal with RIL or to alienate/dispose /encumber/ transfer FRL's assets without its written permission, Amazon alleged, "These actions (transfer of FRL assets) have been done in a clandestine manner by playing a fraud on the Constitutional Courts in India, the Arbitral Tribunal and Indian statutory authorities/ agencies." However, Future group's counsels informed the court that they have not transferred the stores. A Future group company had on March 9 updated the stock exchanges of "having so far received termination notices for sub-leased properties from Reliance entities in relation to 34 "Central" stores and 78 "Brand Factory" stores of the Company.

FRL, meanwhile, agreed to re-start the arbitration before the Singapore Tribunal, against whose proceedings it had secured a stay from a division bench of the Delhi HC. Amazon had moved the SC to vacate the HC order. Future group and Amazon spokespersons were not available for comment.

In a separate development, senior lenders to FRL led by Bank of India warned in a public notice Tuesday that all their loans were secured by charge over the moveable fixed assets and current assets of FRL. Any dealing with such assets could be subject to clawbacks.

PRICE DROP

Crude oil falls below $100 after three weeks

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

AFTER staying above $100 per barrel for almost three weeks, the crude oil prices in the international market fell below $100 per barrel on Tuesday.

The Brent Crude - the global benchmark for prices was trading at $98.40 per barrel while WTI was trading at $94.10 per barrel. The crude price in the international market has been on rise ever since Russia started its military operations in Ukraine. It had shot up over $100 a barrel, and reached even $139, a near 14-year high.

On March 7, Brent hit $139.13 a barrel, the highest since 2008. But in the past few days, the price of oil has come down due to factors, including resurgence of Covid 19 cases in China, the world's biggest crude importer, and ceasefire talks between Ukraine and Russia.

The drop of crude prices in the international market is a big relief for India as it imports 85% of its oil demand. Experts believe that the surged crude price may have impacted India's import bills and foreign exchange reserves and exchange rate. They have said if the government hadn't passed this on the customer, it would have hurt its tax revenue. A study by State Bank of India's (SBI) economic wing noted that given the increase in the price of crude oil in the international market; diesel and petrol prices should have been higher by ₹7-14 in India.

Softbank executive leaves Paytm, Policybazaar Boards

ARSHAD KHAN @ New Delhi

JAPANESE investor Softbank representative is exiting from the board of listed fintech firm Paytm as part of its global policy. The investment giant would also be leaving the board of Policybazaar.

One97 communications, the parent firm of Paytm, informed the stock exchanges on Tuesday that SoftBank's Munish Varma, a non-executive, non-independent director on its board, has stepped down due to 'personal commitments and other pre-occupations'.

"Munish Ravinder Varma as Non-executive, Non-Independent Director of the Company and Vikas Agnihotri, Alternate Director Munish Ravinder Varma, ceased to be Alternate Director of the Company from closure of Business hours on March 14, 2022," Paytm said in a regulatory filing.

Softbank managing partner Verma was a board member in both Paytm and Policybazaar.

According to a person aware of the development, there will be no change in investment made by Softbank in Paytm and Policy Bazaar. Softbank is a significant shareholder in the two companies and owns about 17% stake in Paytm and 12% stake in Policybazaar.

The person said that the representative will step down as Softbank in 90% of the portfolio companies globally has exited within six months of a company going public.

The development couldn't have come at a more troubling time for Paytm as share price of the company has dipped about 25% in the last two sessions after the RBI barred Paytm Payments Bank from taking on new customers. MYANMAR

TO ACCEPT THAI BAHT FOR BORDER TRADE, EYES USING RUPEE

Myanmar will start accepting the Thai baht currency for settling border trade transactions and is also looking at a similar plan to use the Indian rupee for such trade, the ministries of information and investment said on Tuesday. Myanmar's military-controlled government has already said it would also accept China's renminbi as an official settlement currency. "By reducing dependence on the U.S. dollar, we will mitigate the risk of sudden exchange rate swings due to external geopolitical factors," the ministries said in a statement, adding the move would help reduce inflation caused by appreciation of the dollar. The arrangements would also help support economic recovery, the statement said, adding that – even with rising energy prices – Myanmar should record "modest" gross domestic product growth in the fiscal year ending October 2022. Myanmar's economy has slumped since the army overthrew an elected government a year ago and launched a bloody crackdown on opponents.

JAPAN

CALLS FOR 'STABLE' FX MOVES AS WEAK YEN WEIGHS ON IMPORT-RELIANT ECONOMY

Japan will closely watch exchange-rate moves as market stability was "very important," Finance Minister Shunichi Suzuki said on Tuesday in the wake of the yen's decline to a five-year low against the dollar. While Tokyo policymakers have traditionally favoured a weak yen for the boost it gives to exports, the sliding yen has become a source of worry recently as it further inflates the cost of food, fuel and raw material imports. "Exchange-rate stability is very important. We'll carefully monitor the currency market and its impact on the Japanese economy," Suzuki told a news conference, when asked about the softening yen. He refrained from directly commenting on the dollar/yen's level and whether a weak yen was negative for Japan's economy. The yen fell as low as 118.44 per dollar on Tuesday to hit a new five-year low on bets the Bank of Japan (BOJ) will maintain its dovish stance, even as the US Federal Reserve is set to raise interest rates on Wednesday. The BOJ is likely to keep policy ultra-loose on Friday and vow to maintain its massive stimulus.

SRI LANKA

SAYS WILL BEGIN OFFICIAL TALKS WITH IMF NEXT MONTH

Sri Lanka will start official talks with the International Monetary Fund (IMF) next month, a cabinet spokesman said on Tuesday, as the government seeks to stave off the island nation's worst economic crisis in years. Spokesman Ramesh Pathirana said the cabinet had given Finance Minister Basil Rajapaksa permission to formulate proposals to present to the IMF. "Sri Lanka will begin formal talks with the IMF next month," he told reporters. A senior IMF official will hold talks with President Gotabaya Rajapaksa on Tuesday, Pathirana said. Historically weak government finances, badly timed tax cuts and the Covid-19 pandemic, which hit the lucrative tourism industry and foreign remittances, have wreaked havoc on the economy, leading to a currency devaluation last week. Sri Lanka's foreign exchange reserves have fallen 70% in the last two years to about $2.31 billion, leaving the Indian Ocean island nation struggling to pay for essential imports, including food and fuel. Last week's devaluation stoked further inflation, inflicting more distress on Sri Lankans battling rolling power cuts and fuel shortages. Meanwhile, in New Delhi this week, the finance minister will sign the $1-billion credit line previously agreed with India to bring in key imports of medicine, food and fuel.

Zomato grants $150 million loan to Blinkit

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Bengaluru

THE steady Online food delivery platform Zomato on Tuesday said that its board of directors has approved a $150 million loan to Grofers India Private Limited (GIPL).

Blinkit, formerly known as Grofers, operates in the quick commerce space. Zomato said in an exchange filing that it will grant a loan in one or more tranches.

"This loan will support the capital requirements of GIPL in the near term, and is in line with our stated intent of investing up to $400 million cash in quick commerce in India over the next 2 years," the company said.

While various reports claim that Zomato and Blinkit might merge in a share-swap deal, people familiar with the development said, this merger will not happen immediately, and that the food delivery platform is only providing a loan to Blinkit at rate of interest on or above 12% per annum for a period of up to one year.

Blinkit is a 10-minute grocery and e-commerce platform. Its founder Albinder Dhindsa in a youtube video said, "We believe quick commerce is the future of commerce."

In August last year, Zomato invested $100 million for a 9.3% stake in Blinkit.

Earlier, in its third quarter earnings, Zomato said that it will invest $400 million over next two years in the quick commerce segment.

Zomato also announced that it is acquiring a 16.66% stake in Mukunda Foods for $5 million. Mukunda is a food robotics company that designs and manufactures smart robotic equipment to automate food preparation for restaurants. This investment will help Mukunda to grow its business, Zomato said.

City held by Palace in Premier League

Pep Guardiola refused to panic after Manchester City wasted a host of chances in a damaging 0-0 draw at Crystal Palace on Monday that severely dented their bid to retain the Premier League title. With second-placed Liverpool having won at Brighton on Saturday, City are now just four points clear of Jurgen Klopp's team.

Blasters edge Jamshedpur, reach ISL final

MARTIN JOSEPH @Kochi

A HALLMARK of great teams is that they know how to suffer and still come out of the other end triumphantly. And the Kerala Blasters' class of 2021-22 belong to that school as they produced a masterclass in resilience against Jamshedpur FC.

After an early goal, Blasters led the two-legged semifinal by a 2-0 aggregate (1-0 from first leg), and what was expected to be a comfortable night at the Tilak Maidan in Vasco turned into an acid test of their credentials.

Jamshedpur threw everything at Blasters for 45 minutes and while they did snatch an equalizer, Blasters held on and progressed to the final for the first time since 2016 with a 2-1 aggregate score. Having missed out on the ISL title after two heartbreaking defeats in the finals, Ivan Vukomanovic & Co have another chance to try and deliver the silverware that the fans have been craving all these years.

SKME ITF OPEN

Sasikumar survives first round scare

ENS @Bengaluru

Top seed Mukund Sasikumar survived a first-round scare against unseeded Rishab Agarwal in the SKME ITF Open here on Tuesday. The 25-year-old toiled to a 5-7, 6-3, 6-3 victory to advance to the pre-quarterfinals.

Meanwhile Poland's Maks Kasnikowski created the first flutter of the tournament when he felled the sixth seed Robert Strombachs of Germany in straight sets 6-1, 6-4. However, young Nishant Dabas stole the limelight of the day as he produced an unexpected victory over Nikshep Ballekere Ravikumar 6-1, 7-6 (12-10).

BROKEN ENG VS INDIAN FLAIR

Riding on the momentum, Mithali & Co would want to pile on the troubles of holders

GOMESH S @Chennai

AS Anya Shrubsole ran in to bowl the fourth delivery of her final over, trying to defend ten runs from nine balls, at Lord's on July 23, 2017 — a slower delivery which Rajeshwari Gayakwad almost yorked herself and lost the stumps — a billion hearts were broken in India. Five years on, the memory still haunts the Indian fans for it was a moment of what could have been.

But not for this Indian team. As they take on the defending champions England, vice-captain Harmanpreet Kaur believes that whatever happened in the past is history.

"If you look at the overall record, we started the tournament (in 2017) by beating England in the first match," Kaur said in the pre-match press conference.

"It's not like we always have to look at past performances. I know they have played well against us, but right now, it is all about the momentum and the momentum is on our side and for us, we just want to focus on the things that we are doing well... We want to stay in the moment and that is what we have been discussing in the team meetings."

Kaur is not far off the point. After a series of poor results, India have found some momentum in the lead up to the World Cup. They won both the warm-ups, defeated Pakistan, lost against New Zealand but came back stronger versus West Indies. Their key batters are amongst runs, spinners are dominating and pacers are doing well with the new ball. With four points from three games, India sit in the third place and fair to say that they are on a roll.

At the other end of the spectrum are the defending champions England, who are going through a rut.

Ever since they landed in Australia for the Ashes series in January, things have gone downhill as they are yet to register a single victory across formats in the last two months.

Which is probably why when asked if England could take some confidence from the fact that they did well against India recently, wicket-keeper Amy Jones said that it would help.

"When you play any team, it's quite natural to sort of look back at the last games that you've played against them. And, so to have that fairly recent success against them, I think as a group will definitely give us confidence," she said.

They have lost all three matches in the World Cup so far and the clash on Wednesday is a do or die for them as another defeat would mean that they are officially out of the tournament.

Will India take advantage of this situation? Kaur feels that they don't want to look at the position of England and would want to keep doing the things that have worked well for them.

"I think for us, very important to — the way we performed in the last game, we just need to continue that other than just thinking about what their weakness is and what are their positive points. And right now, we are only looking at our strengths, and the areas where we are doing well and the areas where we need to improve as a team," Kaur said.

NEW BEGINNINGS FOR PBKS

As Punjab Kings are all set to field a brand new squad with Mayank Agarwal leading them, a look at how they stack up ahead of the fifteenth edition of the IPL...

THE SYNOPSIS

In three successive seasons where Punjab Kings failed to get past the group stages, their middle-order proved to be their biggest undoing. End result was they entered the IPL auctions with the highest purse, Punjab have tried to address it. So, what they now have is a batting order, if everyone is available, that reads: Mayank Agarwal (captain), Shikhar Dhawan, Jonny Bairstow, Liam Livingstone, Shahrukh Khan. That is one of the best top-five in the league and one if clicks would be hard to stop for any bowling unit. Then they have it simple in terms of filling their four overseas slots.

ATTENTION PLEASE

Let's accept this first. In a 10-team tournament there is always going to be at least one weak link in a team because of shortage of quality players. Punjab are no exception. While left-arm seamer Arshdeep Singh, who was retained, is expected to slot in to the XI, Punjab have to punt on two more slots. All-rounder Rishi Dhawan is an option at No 6. If he doesn't click, then they have U19 star Raj Angad Bawa as a potential replacement. So for the remaining one slot, which will be taken by a spinner, Punjab have to choose between Harpreet Brar, Writtick Chatterjee.

WHAT'S IN STORE?

On paper they are exciting. But as Shahrukh said after the auction, head coach Anil Kumble wants him to bowl more, which tells something. Apart from Chahar, they need Shahrukh, Livingstone to deliver a few.

Tewatia unfazed by high price tag

MARTIN JOSEPH Kochi

RAHUL Tewatia was an in-demand cricketer during the Indian Premier League mega auction last month with teams entering into a fierce bidding war for the 28-year-old.

The all-rounder was eventually bagged by the new IPL franchise Gujarat Titans for a hefty price of ₹9 crore as they fought off interest from Chennai Super Kings.

The fact that Tewatia's base price was just ₹40 lakhs is an indication of just how highly the former Rajasthan Royals player was sought after.

Tewatia says that he does not feel the pressure of the price tag as it is just an indication that teams have faith in his abilities.

"My point of view is that, what is the point of taking pressure about these things? The team is showing belief in you and that is why they are ready to spend that kind of money on you. I don't feel the pressure and it is just a case of trying to repay their faith. I just want to fulfill the role for which I was taken in the team and just work hard," said Tewatia during a media interaction on Tuesday.

The fight to sign Tewatia points to the importance that teams place on all-rounders and the Haryana cricketer knows that he will have a crucial role to play for the new franchise. "For every team, the role of an all-rounder is very crucial. Those who bat between six to eight in the order, their role is really important. Because you get very little time to make an impact which can decide matches. So it is a really important role to fulfill in the team and perform according to the situation," he said. Tewatia's most memorable knock in the IPL was the one for the Royals in Sharjah against Kings XI Punjab. The left-hander had smashed Sheldon Cottrell for five sixes in an over to steer his team to victory from the jaws of defeat. Tewatia hopes to produce such moments for Titans as the franchise is looking to make a mark in their maiden appearance in the T20 event.

IPL 10 DAYS TO GO

"Even though it is a new franchise, the players who make up the team have played a lot of IPL cricket so the team should make a good impression and hopefully do well," said the leg spinner. Hardik Pandya will be leading the Gujarat outfit and there is a lot of curiosity on how the former Mumbai Indians star would fare in a captaincy role.

"Hardik has plenty of experience in the IPL and has played a lot of cricket for India as well. He has also played under many successful captains like MS Dhoni, Virat Kohli and Rohit Sharma and he will take lessons from that and bring his own inputs into the role. He should do well given the amount of cricket and experience he has under his belt," he added.

SECOND SERVE

Juventus will hope to turn their recent resurgence into European success. The Old Lady welcome Villarreal in the second leg of the Champions League last-16. Sanction-hit Chelsea head to Lille. A look at Wednesday's matches...

JUVE VS VILLARREAL
(FIRST LEG: 1-1)

Juventus, the last Italian team still standing in the Champions League, are desperate to avoid a third successive last-16 elimination. The Bianconeri are hoping that three of their top players return for the match in Turin. Captain Giorgio Chiellini, fellow defender Leonardo Bonucci and forward Paulo Dybala have been out — part of a long injury list that also includes long-term absences for Federico Chiesa and Weston McKennie. Villarreal may be without key players because of injuries, including Raul Albiol, Etienne Capoue, Gerard Moreno and Juan Foyth.

Live on Sony Pictures Networks @ 1:30 AM

LILLE VS CHELSEA
(FIRST LEG: 0-2)

So much has changed for Chelsea since the first leg was played before Russia launched a full invasion of Ukraine. Now Chelsea is dealing with the impact of sanctions and the team having to operate under spending restrictions. Lille have an organised backline that has been hard to breach. The only time coach Jocelyn Gourvennec's side has conceded a goal in the past six games was against Chelsea. But scoring has proved more problematic. Top scorer Jonathan David is still short of his best form and midfield creator Renato Sanches is out with a thigh injury.

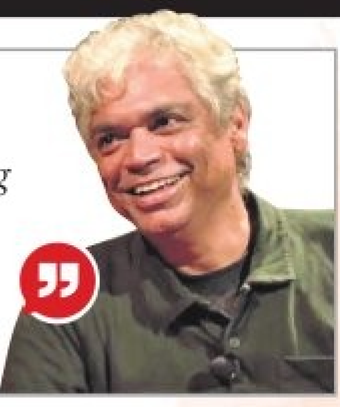
Tuesday's judgement on the hijab row, which effectively upholds the ban on the headscarf, has left several prominent Bengalureans disappointed. Here's what they have to say to CE

AT LOGGERHEADS



When you approach a court, a negotiated settlement isn't possible. Usually, the verdict favours one party and causes bitterness among the members of the other party. This court decision will only divide people further. It should've been sorted out at the college-level, the local community level. – Prakash Belawadi, actor

People have the right to wear what they want and we cannot question it. If a Sikh student can wear the uniform and the pagadi, where is the uniformity there? It is an individual's choice and a sacrilege to ask people to be uniform. Everybody is unique with different cultures and traditions. There should be freedom in a secular country like ours.

– Nilofer Suleman, artist

The opportunity for education cannot be restricted by what clothes a woman chooses to wear. In a patriarchal world, men have an opinion on whatever women wear - asking us to wear more, or less, as and when it suits them, period. In this case, the additional Islamophobia is causing this issue with the hijab. Really, they can just stop determining what women will wear.

– Arundhati Ghosh, cultural practitioner

Live and let live. That's what I believe in. Coming from a Muslim family, we don't follow the purda system, but that does not mean that we can tell those following it, not to. Ideas cannot be imposed on anyone in any way.

Zafer Mohiuddin, theatre artist

I identify as both Hindu and Muslim, my father is Hindu and mother, Muslim. We can't keep telling women what to wear and what not to wear. I find it quite disturbing. There have been a series of different attacks on the Muslim community that we all need to really address.

– Shilo Shiv Suleman, artist

1. Silk has been an integral part of Mysuru's culture and tradition for a very long time. East India Company tried to introduce sericulture in Mysuru in the 18th century which turned futile and was later abandoned. Which ruler of Mysuru took up the task to promote sericulture in an organised way and set up a silk rearing unit in Channapatna in the 1780s? Hyder Ali, Tipu Sultan or Krishnaraja Wodeyar?

2. JN Tata has significantly contributed to the development of sericulture in Karnataka. With a vision of setting up scientific sericulture in India, he established a farm with a weaving unit on Japanese lines in 1896, later it came to be known as 'Tata Silk Farm'. K Sheshadri Iyer, the then dewan of Mysore helped him in providing a rent-free grant of land with an annual subsidy. Which district in Karnataka was this famous unit set up?

3. In 1912, 'The Mysore Silk Factory' was set up in Mysore by Sri Nalvadi Krishnaraja Wodeyar, the then Maharaja to manufacture silk fabrics catering exclusively to the needs of the royal family and ornamental fabrics to the Mysore army. After Independence, the Mysore state sericulture department took over the factory and promoted 'Mysore Silks' as a global brand. In 1980, the factory was handed over to KSIC. Expand KSIC.

A whole new world

Former Twitter India head Manish Maheshwari and edupreneur Tanay Pratap speak to CE about their new metaverse startup

WITH the pandemic introducing the world to several virtual experiences, Manish Maheshwari and Tanay Pratap, the founders of Bengaluru-based Invact Metaversity, an immersive university that is built on metaverse, decided to tap the current buzz. They are here to provide an experience in the field of education, which they feel is now evolving and racing ahead of the conventional online education platforms.

Maheshwari, who was then the Twitter head for India, was scouting for users who made news and subjects that really piqued public interest. That is how Pratap's name popped up and Maheshwari learnt that he was working on a cohort-based online learning platform. Like many other startup ideas, this one too cropped up over dinner.

"In fact, Manish wanted to connect with me and I decided to meet him over dinner at his place. I was nervous because I felt I had done something wrong on Twitter. However, the conversation drifted towards combining learning with metaverse, where we wanted to give students an experience, beyond the boring online education system," says Pratap, who was in the online teaching space for three years.

Manish Maheshwari

Tanay Pratap

frankly speaking

Maheshwari believes his inspiration for Invact Metaversity came from his stint with Twitter. "When Covid-19 happened, students were complaining about the on and off learning model using hashtags. Then it occurred to me that education is not just about content but experience," adds Maheshwari, who was also amidst the thick of the Twitter controversy over compliance last year with the Central Government.

Pratap, who worked as a senior software engineer at Microsoft, identifies himself as a 'teacher' and an 'engineer' at heart. "I was solving problems previously as a teacher as an engineer. Now, I am solving a problem as an edupreneur. We don't believe in the credential mechanism as long as you are able to tap technology to build your performance and assignments on metaverse or 'metafolio'." says Pratap.

Interestingly, the duo also raised funds from big tech giants from India and overseas using a very 'unconventional' method. According to Maheshwari, the agreement also requires tech giants to invest time in teaching students and also assist them in placements.

"We had to send simple one-liners on WhatsApp to the investors to get the deals done. We actually had to turn down many offers from investors because we had already got what we wanted," says Maheshwari.

"Investors, who were experiencing the metaverse during the funding rounds, overheard the discussions of other investors on the metaverse platform and showed interest in the startup. That's the kind of serendipity metavarsity offers," adds Pratap.

Fact file

Invact Metaversity is a Bengaluru-based metaverse startup that offers a 16-week metaMBA programme designed to get you a job in a core business function of a high-growth company. The course will be delivered in the metaversity, where students can learn from mentors and peers using Augmented Reality (AR) and Virtual Reality (VR) gadgets.

I had 24 hours to work on the sneakers. I usually take five days at least for an order

Mana Santhanam, sneaker artist

Marking a milestone

MONIKA MONALISA

EVEN if Mana Santhanam, a sneaker artist, currently has a packed schedule and is not taking orders, exceptions can be made if the client is Indian cricket team's ex-skipper, Virat Kohli. Santhanam recently customised a pair of sneakers for Kohli, dedicating it to his 100th Test match which concluded recently. To make it extra special, she put in the date of Test match, Captian number 269, and the silhouette of Virat in action on the field.

It came in as a pleasant surprise for her when Kohli shared the video of him thanking her for the effort. "In the video, he says he will definitely wear it," says Santhanam, adding that her parents are bigger fans of him. Santhanam's parents are not just cricket followers but have also played for the state of Tamil Nadu. "I grew up watching not just India's matches in almost all matches of all formats. Cricket is like second nature in my house," says Santhanam, adding that it is a huge deal for them.

The opportunity came to Santhanam, a city-based marketeer, when cricketer was in the city for a photoshoot before he joined the bubble. "There was a small window where Virat was in town for a brand shoot and it coincided with the 100th Test match," says Santhanam, who knew someone who was also part of the shoot and got in touch with her to make some time for it. Her friend had a blank canvas shoe sent home and, "I had only 24 hours to work on it, which was crazy," says Santhanam, who normally takes upto five days at least.

Santhanam, who is preparing for her upcoming wedding, hasn't been taking orders. "But it was for Virat Kohli and it was a milestone," she says.

Though a relatively new concept in India, sneaker customisation is huge in the United States. "Sneaker customisation is also picking up in India, maybe not at the same rate as in the US but there is a huge audience. It's a movement now with people calling themselves sneaker heads," explain self-taught Santhanam, who usually takes orders on her Instagram account.

While the sneakers are sent by the client, she charges ₹8,000 for her art. "Both old and new shoes are welcome, it's a nice way to recycle old shoes but since people get in touch with me for gifting purposes, they're usually new," she adds.

FIT BIT

PHALAKASANA I

(PLANK POSE KNEE TO ELBOW)

This is a variation of Phalakasana (Plank Pose) and is practised as part of the core yoga sequence and to strengthen the arms and shoulders. This can also be a part of Yoga Sculpt Sequence. It helps boost energy and hence can be included in flow yoga sequences. Your abs are not designed to move up and down completely (like with crunches), so it is good to add rotational motion to your exercise. This is a more difficult progression than a standard plank. This targets the core, especially the obliques, to build strength and increase stability. This exercise not only engages the ab muscles, but also strengthens the entire core, both in front of you and your back. It also targets triceps, shoulders and glutes.

STEPS

- Perform the Plank Pose. From there, in a flow, lift the right leg and bring the right knee towards the left elbow.
- After that, exhale and bring the knee towards the right elbow, strengthening the arms and the firm grip of the palms on the floor.
- Then, be there for about two breaths, making sure the hips are in position.
- Your palms should be below the shoulders. Keep the hips parallel to the floor.
- Then, try the bending knee close to the opposite elbow.
- Then push the body down resting the weight on the arms and shoulders, keeping the knee close to elbow.
- After holding the position for a few seconds, come to the original pose and then relax.
- You can perform the same sequence on the other side.

BENEFITS

- Involves all the muscles and joints to keep the endurance and power.
- Helps pump the heart.
- Builds a strong posture, keeps the spine fit.
- Improves stability of the muscles and the joints.
- Builds self-confidence. It helps build endurance and keeps the athletes away from injuries.

LIMITATIONS

- People suffering from injury in the arms or wrists, legs, including the upper leg at the thighs, low or high blood pressure or carpal tunnel syndrome should avoid this.
- Those who are suffering from anxiety-related issues should avoid this, as the mind and body needs a lot of focus.

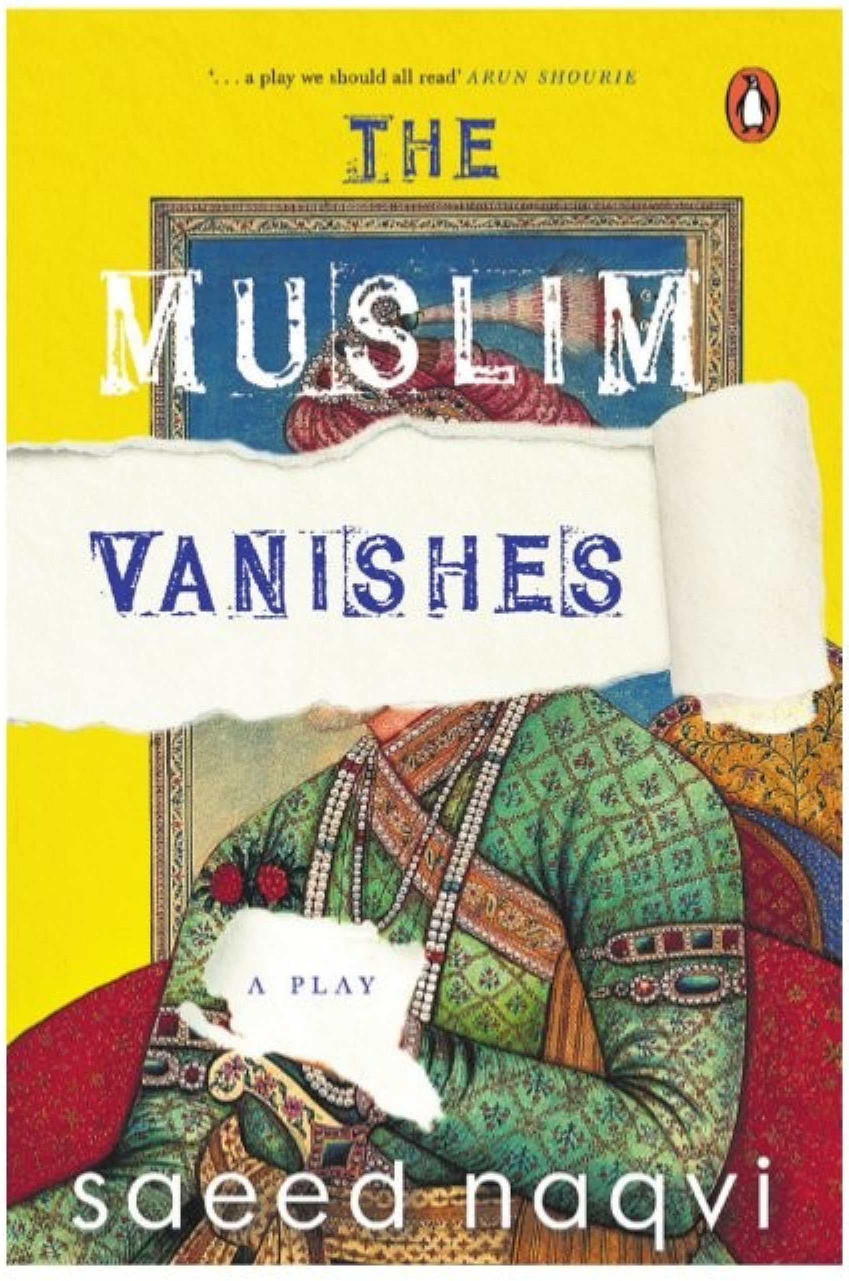
WHEN THEY'VE ALL GONE



A television news channel's brightly lit studio is ready for an in-depth show on a story that is breaking. Prime time anchors Anand and Brajesh are seated at about eight feet apart from each other. In the backdrop is a display panel identifying the channel—Insight Today TV. In front of them are laptops, mikes and other paraphernalia typically seen in a TV studio. When the scene opens, the anchors are processing the news inputs popping up on their laptop screens. A journalist on the news desk, young and lanky, rushes in with the latest. He somehow manages to look distraught, excited and confounded all at once.)

Journalist (panting): Oh my God! They've gone!? And th- they, they've taken it with them. This is HUGE! The biggest news of our lives!

Anand (sharply): Breathe, man!

(continuing)

Who's gone?

Journalist: The reporters are saying there's not even one left in the city. Not one. All gone. Every single one… (he trails off, as if contemplating the gravity of the situation)

Anand: Arrey! But tell us who? Where did they go? Don't speak in riddles. There is nothing about anyone or anything disappearing on the wires.

Journalist: Sir, believe me, they've just gone, each one of them. God only knows where. It must be magic, sir, black magic!

Anand (exasperated): You first said 'it' has gone.

Now you are saying 'they' have gone.

A goat could have disappeared. A bride could have disappeared. Birds could have disappeared. (Raising his voice) What has gone? Who has gone? Don't confuse us.

Journalist (tongue-tied): I don't know how to explain…. It's just… so unbelievable. Sir, there is no one left! The mean the Muslims. Muslims have gone. Some say they have taken the Qutub Minar with them.

(A second journalist, bespectacled and stout, and possibly the first one's senior, marks his entry and joins the discussion.)

Second journalist: Did you get any feedback on where the Muslims have disappeared?

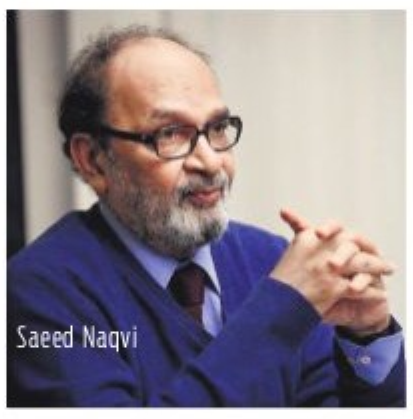
First journalist: No one knows. Or, I have not been told. There is no official information.

Anand (looks at his laptop screen): There is some mention about it on the wires now—PTI has one take. But no details.

Second journalist (to the first journalist): How do you know they have all gone? What's your source?

First journalist: One of our reporters has reliably learnt that Rasheed Ghosi's buffalo shed is closed…(pauses) and so is Khalil Darzi, Salaru Saloon, Asghar Ali Perfumery, Mohammad Siddiq Tobacconists. All Muslim houses in Nakhas and Aminabad in Lucknow are empty. I don't know what is happening, the Muslims and everything Muslim seem to have disappeared.

Second journalist (dialing a number on his mobile phone and speaking into it): Ask our legal correspondent, Sumir Lal, to check on the courts. He must find out if the case against the Rehmani brothers — you know, the terrorism case — is still being heard?



Saeed Naqvi

First journalist: I have already asked Sumir… (his mobile beeps) Ah! He has sent a text message… (he looks at his mobile) The hearing has been on today since the morning.

Anand: But you said just now that all the Muslims have gone then how have the courts managed to hold the brothers back? How are they still around when the others have vanished? Is your big news authentic? Or is it some nonsense picked up from WhatsApp!

Brajesh (leaning in, finally entering the animated discussion): See, we can't just jump to conclusions. Perhaps all Muslims have not gone. If we generalise like this, we'll be guilty of playing up what seems to be very patchy information. We have to wait for some kind of official confirmation. Meanwhile, we can break the story on our news bulletin. I suppose we cannot ignore it completely since other channels are running it. Someone go tell Archana — she's presenting in Studio Two I think— to slip in the rumours are gaining ground that many Muslims have gone missing from Delhi.

First journalist (butting in): Sir, look, I am not going by WhatsApp forwards as Anandji alleges. I am going by feedback from our reporters. Here, there is news flashing on my cell that incoming trains have no Muslim passengers. The Intelligence Bureau has also confirmed this, although I know we cannot always take their word — these days, the IB chaps are as guilty of putting out fake news as some of the news channels! But this is too sensational, too fantastic, how can anyone cook up a story like this?!

Anand: Check the courts. Get in touch with someone covering the hearings. Have Muslims with charges framed against them been prevented from err…err… disappearing? Have they been presented in court?

First journalist (thinking aloud in a lighter vein): Perhaps those who disappeared have conveniently left behind all the murderers, pickpockets, rapists, thieves — someone did some cherry picking!

Second journalist (interrupting him abruptly): This is no time for your jokes. If this is true, it's serious, with major political implications. Call your contacts in Tihar Jail. Find out if the Muslim criminals are still in their cells?

First journalist (dials Tihar Jail and puts his call on speaker phone): I am calling from Insight Today. Is that the warden?

Warden (over the speaker phone): Yes sir, I recognize your voice. I've been flooded by calls all morning. Before I share anything, let me make it clear, this is strictly off-the-record. I'm telling you only because I know I can trust you, and your editor is an old friend.

First journalist: Yes sir, I understand.

Warden: The truth is… they've all gone—all the Muslim convicts. Simply disappeared. They have even dug up (pauses) — please don't quote me on this — the terrorist Guru's grave. They just scooped out the earth and took away the skeleton. It's missing.

Second journalist (speaking into the phone): Warden Sahib, this is Arjun here, how can they disappear with a grave?

Warden's voice: Not the grave, but the skeleton They…

Cinematographer Swamy J with Puneeth Rajkumar

'I'VE USED JAMES BOND COLOUR PALETTE IN JAMES'

says cinematographer Swamy J, who shares his experience on working with Puneeth Rajkumar in the upcoming action entertainer

A still from James

A SHARADHAA

CINEMATOGRAPHER Swamy J, who had previously worked with Puneeth Rajkumar in Anjani Putra, got to collaborate with the Power Star in James. The 8-film-old DOP, who has previously worked in films like Vajrakaya, Maruthi 800, Shivarajkumar's Bhajarangi, and Seetharama Kalyana shares his experience working on James.

"Puneeth Sir would always address me as 'James cameraman' and I felt happy each time he called me that way," says Swamy, who reminisced how Puneeth always wanted the best to happen to him.

"With the Powerstar headlining an out-and-out action entertainer, the film needed to be fast-paced, and it kept me on my toes," says Swamy, adding that the title reminded him of the James Bond films and he used a similar colour palette for the Chethan Kumar directorial. "This is something that can be noticed in Puneeth sir's introduction scene, which has come out extraordinarily," says Swamy. He also mentioned that shooting the Kashmir portions were challenging and fans are in for a feast in James.

James will hit theatres worldwide on March 17.
